Antioch boy awarded $6 million settlement

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

An Antioch family has been awarded $6 million personal injury settlement for injuries their son suffered during an accident while riding in a defective car seat.

The settlement, approved under terms of Circuit Judge Stephen Walter, will be used to establish a trust fund for Danny Crews that will pay for his medical expenses.

The Antioch third-grader was injured in a crash, nearly six years ago on October 26, 1986, when his mother, Cheryl Crews, lost control of her car north of Antioch on Wisconsin Rte. 83 and struck another vehicle. Danny, who was 3 years-old at the time, was strapped into the seat with a lap strap across it.

The accident resulted in Danny becoming paralyzed, allegedly due to the lack of a tether strap that did not come in the box.

Danny's large medical bills, due to a six month hospital stay, ignited the suit against the seat manufacturer and the store chain where it was purchased.

The final settlement was worked out (Continued on Page 8)

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Village Board considered but did not act on a recommendation to grant Quaker Industries a tax deferment as incentive to not leave Antioch.

The recommendation came from the Antioch Redevelopment Commission, which requested that the Village Board consider the possibility of deferring the Village portion of Quaker's real estate tax bill for two years. The reason the commission gave for the possible action was it believed that if the Village would agree to not tax the company for two years, Quaker would not relocate to Cleveland, where Quaker's new owners, K-Home Inc., are located.

Quaker is under extreme pressure to relocate to either Ohio or Wisconsin, said the Redevelopment Committee's proposal read during the meeting. Quaker presently employs over 100 people at its Antioch site.

Mayor Robert Wilton showed his support for the measure when he said, "Time is of the essence."

Neal recount holds; Swank's next week

WADSWORTH—Robert Neal is still the apparent winner in Dist. 2 race for the County Board. A discovery recount early this week of ballots in three precincts requested by loser Eleanor Ros-ton failed to turn up any vote discrepancies. This leaves Neal a 36-vote winner, 1,306 to 1,270. She paid $10 per precinct for the recount. Recounted next week will be ballots in the race for state representative in the 61st Dist. between winner Andrea Moore and Ralph Swank Jr. Moore won the March 17 race 90 votes, 6,415 to 6,325. Swank will pay $10 each to recount up to 18 precincts.

Clarification

A letter to the editor published in the April 3 letter column was identified as written by Kenneth Grooms, village clerk, Village of Lake Zurich. Grooms said he wrote the letter as a private citizen and should have been signed as Kenneth Grooms, Lake Zurich.

Hess won't run for state rep opening

WAUKEGAN—County Clerk Linda Hess said she will not be a Democratic candidate for state representative in the new 60th Dist. of southern Lake County. The Republican candidate is businessman Charles Cardella. Clerk for almost 10 years, Hess said she likes the full-time duties of her office more than the idea of going to Springfield as a part-time office holder. "I had to weigh the cost of running an election, my own personal goals and the idea of filling out my term as I promised to do," Hess said. "I was honored so many people thought of me for this office." Hess made her decision while on vacation last week in Mexico. The Democrat party has promised to field candidates in races where it has none for the fall election. This will be done by caucus between now and May 17.

Plea of not guilty entered in murder

WAUKEGAN — A Mundelein man charged with the stabbing murder of his ex-girlfriend pled not guilty last week in the case. The Lake County state's attorney's office was expected to decide Thursday whether to seek the death penalty for Celerino Galicia-Alfara, 23, of 1444 Downing Place. Galicia-Alfara is accused of the murder on March 13 of Roberta Martinez, 27, who had lived with him in Mundelein's Whitehall Manor Apartments. Circuit Court Judge Henry C. Tonigan on May 7 will hear Galicia-Alfara's pretrial hearing, when he could alter his plea if the sides strike a deal, court officials said. The trial is scheduled to begin June 15. Galicia-Alfara was being held at Lake County Jail Wednesday in lieu of $1 million bond.

Dilleys crash kills Grandwood woman

WADSWORTH—A Grandwood Park suffered multiple injuries on the head when her car struck a tree near Wadsworth Sunday. Barbara Lynn, age 50, was transported to St. Therese Medical Center by Newport Fire Dept. personnel following the one-car crash northbound on Dilleys Rd. "She sustained traumatic injuries, a fractured rib and almost all of her injuries were located in the chest and abdomen area," Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson said.

Police nab bank robbery suspect

Lincolnwood police were awaiting word Tuesday afternoon on the bond amount for Terry Norman, age 27. Norman allegedly robbed First National Bank of Lincolnwood Monday morning.

Farm adviser Nicholas saw county go urban

Ray T. Nicholas became Lake County farm adviser during World War II when farming still was a major industry in the county.

When he retired in 1975, farming as a viable business endeavor was waning fast. Urbanization was taking place rapidly.

When Mr. Nicholas died Monday at Victory Lakes Extended Care Facility, Lindenhurst, Lake County as he knew it was well entrenched in suburbia and headed toward total urbanization. He would have been 85 April 22.

Suffering from Parkinson's disease, Mr. Nicholas had been confined to his Grayslake home in recent years, venturing outside only for short periods in summer to watch the progress of the rose garden he tended for years.

Friends called at the Strang Funeral Chapel from 4 to 8 p.m. Friday, April 10. Interment at Highland Memorial Park, Rte. 120 and Hunt Club Rd., was private.

Memorials have been established at the Grayslake Fire Dept. and the United Protestant Church, Grayslake.

The soft spoken agriculture expert was on a first name with scores of farm families as farm adviser, a key post in the Cooperative Extension Service operated by the University of Illinois. During the war years, he spearheaded the planting and care of hundreds of Victory Gardens.

He was born April 22, 1907 on a farm in Dane County, Wis., near Madison, the son of George and Bertha (Schultz) Nicholas. He was an honor graduate in agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, graduating in 1930. He became an agriculture and biology teacher in Princeville, Peoria County, Ill.

In 1937, Mr. Nicholas moved to Rushville to become Schuyler County farm adviser. Four years later he came to Lake County.

As farm adviser, he was deeply involved in 4-H work, the Lake County Fair Assn., the Lake County Farm Bureau and other endeavors dealing with land preservation and protection of the environment.

Surviving are his wife, Willadene, an accomplished artist; a son, Ray T. (Debra) Nicholas Jr., Grayslake; two daughters, Sally Jo (Robert) Martens, Dodgeville, Wis., and Gayle Dene (John) Bohn, Palos Heights and Scottsdale, Arizona; eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents and two brothers, Perry and Wallace.

Call for scrutiny of Zion 'waste of money'—Com Ed

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

Joining activists calling for tougher scrutiny of Commonwealth Edison's Zion nuclear plant, Rep. John Matijevich said Zion's inclusion on a safety "watch list" is "prima facie evidence" that Com Ed cannot manage its own plants.

Matijevich (D-61st) said his bill calling for a backup audit by the state of Zion's management, legislation he introduced on behalf of a utility watchdog group, will hit the General Assembly's public utilities committee after Easter.

"The audit is just another tool to get Com Ed on the ball," Matijevich said. "No matter what (federal agencies) say, people like me should keep the heat on. If not, they're going to slumber back into complacency."

Meanwhile, a nuclear watchdog group announced the governor's office had agreed to meet with them April 10 to discuss the group's own proposal to step up scrutiny of Com Ed plants.

But representatives of Com Ed and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission criticized Matijevich's idea for a second audit as unnecessary and a waste of money. The officials said Zion's placement on the NRC's watch list is a sign of the nuclear industry's vigilance, not of incompetence.

"The facts that Matijevich fails to accept are the substantial improvements to Zion station made" in the year since January 1991, when the NRC added the plant to its list of plants to watch, said Com Ed spokesman Gary Wald. "Matijevich is ignoring those improvements."

"In addition, this is a time when all state agencies are watching their budgets," Wald said. "This 'special audit' would unnecessarily repeat a step that is already undertaken by a governmental agency, the NRC."

And while Matijevich's bill would mandate the Illinois Commerce Commission to look over the shoulders of agencies looking over Com Ed's shoulder, an ICC spokeswoman said the commission deals with economic management, not safety management. Safety is the concern of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, and they already monitor Com Ed's plants.

An NRC spokesman said he was offended by Matijevich's implication that the NRC can't do its job on its own. "If we believe there is a safety problem, we have responded in a way that we have thought was best," said NRC spokesman Jan Strasma.

In fact, the General Assembly is considering a program to install ICC investigators at plants at Zion, said ICC spokesman Beth Bosch. But although the ICC employees could conduct investigations independent of the NRC, the NRC would still decide whether to act on the ICC's findings, Bosch said.

Matijevich's legislation, which he says he is pushing at the request of the consumer watchdog group Citizen's Utility Board, adds to the list of recent criticism of Com Ed. In a letter to Gov. Jim Edgar dated March 6, the Evanston-based Nuclear Energy Information Service made a call similar to Matijevich's, proposing that state agencies including the attorney general's office and the Illinois Department of Nuclear Safety double-check the NRC's evaluations of Zion.

An NEIS spokesman said group representatives will meet with an aide to the governor in Chicago next Friday to discuss their points.

Matijevich has been a thorn in Com Ed's side since 1974, when he opposed Zion's construction. What Matijevich said then is just as true today, he said: With Zion closer to a large population than most plants in the country, Zion needs not only to be safe, but to be "the safest plant in the world."

"I know what I'm up against, because I've seen the political power of public utilities," said Matijevich, running for reelection this fall. "But if someone is opposed to a second audit, then you're opposed to someone doing the best job to be as careful as possible."

The NEIS's letter said Com Ed's reactors throughout the state have 92 safety violations of standards enacted following the Three Mile Island nuclear accident; Com Ed and NRC spokesmen say the real number is 79 and will soon be zero.

"The (NEIS) statement is patently untrue," said the NRC's Strasma. Com Ed is "in the process of complying" with Three-Mile-Island-prompted improvements, Strasma said. Those improvements are "95 percent done" and will be completed within months, Wald said.

The NEIS also charges that the Zion plant may be threatened by "embrittlement," a condition in which a reactor's steel "vessel" walls are made unstable by exposure to radiation and become more likely to crack during sudden temperature changes. Com Ed and NRC spokesmen say Zion has monitoring devices to watch for embrittlement conditions, and there is no problem at the plant.

Condell bridging the generation gap in day care

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

Two generations ago, when today's grandparents were children, most lived in homes that included not only their parents and siblings but their own grandparents and even great-grandparents. Today's society is much different, 60 percent of mothers with children under the age of six

'Our concept is unique because daily contact is planned into the program on a regular basis. We feel it is important for children and the elderly to get to know one another and become friends.'

—Patricia Austin, VP, Outreach for Condell Hospital

years work and often families live hundreds or thousands of miles from their parents and grandparents.

In an effort to bridge that gap and bring senior citizens together with preschoolers, Condell Hospital in Libertyville, is opening the Condell Day Center for Intergenerational Care. The $5.5 million center, three years in the planning, is expected to be operational in May.

The facility will be the only day center in the state that incorporates child and elder day care, offers joint activities and is part of a comprehensive acute care medical complex. "Our concept is unique because daily contact is planned into the program on a regular basis," said Patricia Austin, Vice President of Outreach for Condell. "We feel it is important for children and the elderly to get to know one another and become friends. It's been shown to be beneficial for both groups. Youngsters have a chance to learn about society and different cultures from the seniors and seniors will have an opportunity to interact with the children and learn how ideas toward rearing them has changed."

Seniors and children will be matched by their differing levels and social skills. The goal is for the same seniors to interact with the same classroom of preschoolers each day. Planned activities will include such things as cooking, gardening, arts and crafts and interacting in the facilities gymnasium or on the state of the art playground.

"It has been shown that children learn better in the company of the elderly," Austin added. "The seniors are very excited about the program. They all want to be called Grandma and their first name and Grandpa and their first name." The mingling is strictly voluntary.

The center combines a complete Day center for the elderly with a day care center for children six weeks old through kindergarten.

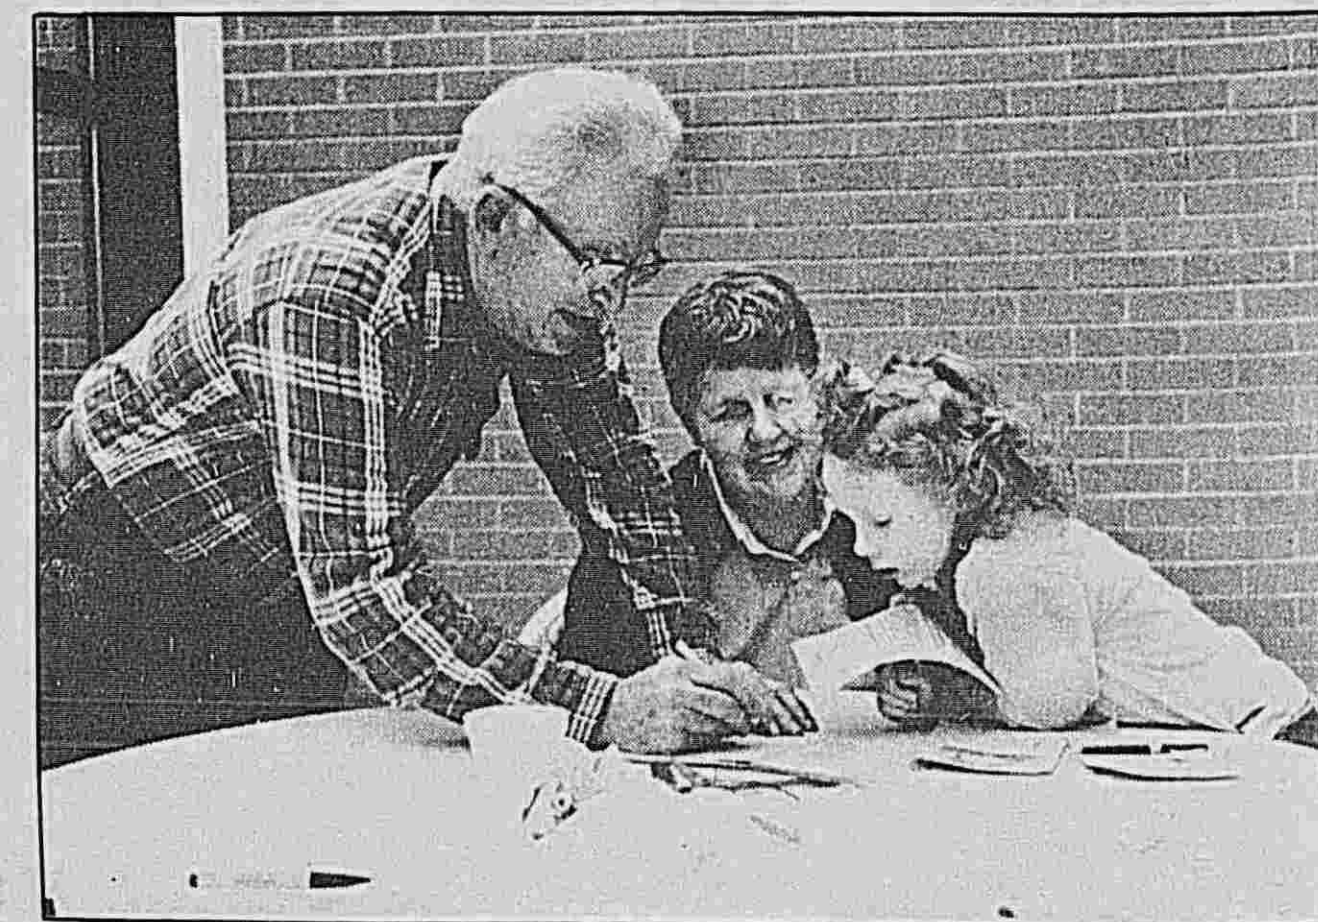

Included in the senior care center, is a solarium, a beauticians area with full facilities for hygiene and personal care, specially designed bathtub for older adults and a media and activities room that feature a homey living area complete with a fireplace and lots of comfortable chairs.

The day care center features specially designed playrooms for three to five year olds, an accredited kindergarten, gymnasium, specially designed multi-level indoor play lofts and outdoor seating for elders to watch and participate with children on the brightly colored playground equipment.

Condell built the facility to accommodate 139 children and has 70 pre-enrolled. They are currently awaiting final licensing approval from the Department of Children and Family Services prior to opening.

Condell employees will be given first priority for care. Fees for the child day care center range from $110 to $150 per week. Adult care, open to seniors age 55 and older, runs $27 per day based on a five day week. Transportation is also available for an additional $14 per week.

Condell Day Center for Intergenerational Care offers the option of intergenerational programming from youngsters 6 weeks to 6 years and elders over 55 in its new facility on Condell Medical Center's Campus in Libertyville.

Digging lake leads to startling Mastodon find

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The Van Zelst Inc. company had, for five years, planned to excavate a five-acre lake on its Wadsworth site.

The project took longer than expected. At first, it was thought to be the soils.

Then one Thursday in late March, an excavator for Campanella & Son discovered something had been at the location 9,995 years before the plans for a lake.

The remains of two mastodons, estimated by the Illinois State Museum to be 10,000 to 11,000 years old were found by Ron Ross of Campanella.

"They were found in the very bottom of the lake," T. David Van Zelst, president of the company, said.

"All of our employees are trained to keep an eye out for things like this. We usually find things like phone wires," Van Zelst, a Libertyville resident, said.

The Illinois State Museum was contacted as soon as the find was discovered. The first object found was almost four feet long with a cross section of about 4-by-7 feet with a rounded skinny end. What appeared to be a tree stump is the femur (right thigh bone) of a prehistoric American mastodon.

"Mastodons roamed throughout northern Illinois, Indiana and Michigan as the ice moved north," Russell Graham, curator and head of the geology department, said.

The height of the Mastodon was 10 feet at the shoulders with 15 feet or more in length. They weighed four to six tons and the tusk was nine inches in diameter.

T. David Van Zelst, president of Van Zelst Landscape Development & Management, shows part of a femur (right thigh bone) found on his property. The bone is thought to be of a Mastodon, which roamed the Midwest until the ice age ended some 10,000 years ago. Officials from the Illinois State Museum were expected to further inspect the find this week.

The soil around the excavation site was described as Marl in nature, akin to quicksand. A photo of a worker shows him shin-deep in the muck. A few feet in another direction, and he would be waist-deep.

Graham said there are conflicting theories on why the Mastodons became extinct.

"One theory says early hunters killed them all. But what I believe to be more appropriate is environmental change at the end of the ice age. It could be really important to get the information. The ice age was the last global warming and we can see what happened in the past," Graham said.

As the ice melted, kettles, or ponds, were created. It is thought that the Mastodons lived and ate in these kettle areas.

Another find is evidence of a groove of spruce trees believed to be about 11,000 years old. Tree parts and white spruce seed cones are neither decomposed nor petrified.

Graham and his team of scientific inspectors were expected in Wadsworth Wednesday to further review the find.

Meanwhile, the femur and pieces of tusk are in Van Zelst's office, some wrapped in towels, the others in jars. The museum advised that the bones should be let dry for a long time.

This is not the first interest for the Van Zelst family in geology. Van Zelst's Dad, Ted, was a member of the Academy of Science and was involved in the Museum of Natural History and Science.

The Van Zelsts, an award-winning landscape company with 60 employees, are enjoying their moment in the spotlight.

"We are having a lot of fun with it," Van Zelst said.

ACHS graduate reaps Golden Apple Award

Jim Effinger

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Have you ever wondered whatever happened to that high school friend, who you haven't seen in over 20 years? Well here is a story about a local boy who has grown up, and was recently recognized as one of the Chicago area's top high school teachers.

Lake Villa native Jim Effinger, a 1965 graduate of Antioch Community High School, was named March 16 as one of 10 outstanding high school teachers to receive the prestigious Golden Apple Award for excellence in classroom instruction.

"People ask me 'what do I teach?'," said Effinger. "I teach kids."

Effinger, a 22-year teaching veteran that presently teaches at Naperville North High School in DuPage County, will receive a $2,500 stipend, a paid semester sabbatical at Northwestern University and an IBM computer from the Golden Apple Foundation.

"It's going to be exciting and fun," said Effinger, about his chance to attend Northwestern. "The hard part is leaving the kids."

Effinger hopes to bring back some films to update the biology department's audio/visual library and study laser technology, in addition to taking some self-improvement classes, while at Northwestern this fall.

Effinger's popularity with his students has grown because he gets them involved in the classroom.

"The trick is getting them hooked," said Effinger. "Once the kids are interested, then it becomes easy. If you're excited about what you're teaching, the kids will be even more interested and curious about how to solve a particular problem."

Described by many as a "teacher of teachers," Effinger also coordinates the work of five other biology teachers in his department, as well as leading science workshops for elementary and middle school teachers.

In the end, the biggest payback for Effinger is when students, who never liked science or thought it was too hard, say, "I like science now, or I want to be a scientist."

"Four or five years ago, I had this student who was number one in his class.

He could have been a doctor or a lawyer, but he chose to become a science teacher," said Effinger. "That is the real payback."

But the paybacks do not end there. There are a few people who live a few miles north of DuPage County that are plenty excited about Jim's success.

The happiest people in Lakeland seem to be Effinger's parents, William and Carol, who have lived in Lake Villa for the past 46 years and own Effinger's Hardware store in town.

"He deserves it," said Carol. "We are very proud of him."

The Effinger's also cannot wait until the May 21 showing of the Golden Awards Show on Channel 11 at 9 p.m. for a chance to see their famous family member on television.

"We are all excited and proud," said his brother, Mike. "He has come a long way."

Not bad for a local kid who knew early in his life that he wanted to make a difference by teaching.

"He knew he wanted to be a teacher when he was in high school," said Carol. "Now he is one of the best."

Centennial man to be crowned this weekend

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

The finest man in the land will be crowned king of Antioch on this week when the Junior Women's Club hosts its Centennial Man Contest.

The contest, which will be a fund raiser for the Antioch Centennial Park to be constructed in May, will be held at St. Peters Social Center on April 11 at 7 p.m.

"We were looking for something different," said Women's Club President Linda Pedersen. "This is a unique idea."

The contest, which was derived from popular beauty contests, will consist of three main parts: Evening wear, Centennial wear and a three minute lipsync contest sure to bring down the house.

"A couple of the contestants have taken this part of the contest very seriously," said Pedersen.

Judging this special contest are Lake County State's Attorney Michael Waller, Associate Lake County Judge Jane Drew Waller, State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis, College of Lake County Trustee Barbara Oilschlager and Cuba Township Clerk Becci Tonigan.

Tickets for the event are $10 and are available at the State Bank of Antioch, First National Bank of Antioch and Osmond Insurance. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Contestants will compete to become Antioch's Centennial Man, which comes with a $500 cash prize and the opportunity to be featured on the Women's Club float for the Centennial Parade.

Cellular phone service to improve in Antioch

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Cellular One customers, who have complained for years that their cellular phones did not work in northern Illinois, will benefit from a new cell site to be built later this year.

At the Antioch Village Board meeting on April 20, the Village could vote on a proposal which would give Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems the permission to erect a new cellular tower and service building near Rte. 173 and Deep Lake Rd.

Cellular One officials believe the new tower will be in service by the end of 1992.

The site, called a cell site by Cellular One, will include a 150-foot tower, complete with four receiving and two transmitting antennas and an unmanned service building.

"There will be no esthetic or scenic damage to the area with the construction of this cell site," said Joseph Gattuso, a spokesman for Cellular One.

Cellular One will create screening of the site from the roadway with various landscaping techniques.

The tower, which will be built to withstand 100 m.p.h. winds, could also be used to mount Civil Service sirens or some other type of emergency siren designated by the Village.

Cellular One selected this particular site after doing several studies that took into consideration geographical and engineering data, present customer complaints in the area and future area growth in the cellular arena.

Unsung heroes shine for telecommunication week

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

For many years, the spotlight has burned brightly on emergency personnel like policemen or firemen. But little attention has gone to the people who get the policeman to the scene, until now.

The white-hot light will now shine on the Antioch dispatchers during National Telecommunicators Week, scheduled from April 12-18.

These unsung heroes are the nerve center of northern Lake County's public safety network and are responsible for providing the communications support and dispatch for all of the area's fire, rescue and police departments.

"Considering the area they cover, I think they do an outstanding job," said Antioch Police Lieutenant Charles Watkins. "Especially with the pressures that exist in this day and time."

This six-person team, which runs the Public Safety office 24 hours a day, has the responsibility to dispatch emergency service personnel for the entire area.

"We dispatch the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst Police Departments and the Antioch and Lake Villa Township Fire and Rescue units," said Supervisor of Records Jane Pensala.

Of course with all the conveniences of the 911 system, like the dispatcher being able to know the address of the caller even if they are too nervous to be understood clearly, residents call the service for less than life threatening situations.

"We get a lot of calls about lost animals," said Pensala. "The best was the time someone called to have someone get their pet pigeon out of the tree in the front yard."

Still others have been known to misdial, expecting a different telecommunicator to answer the phone.

"Once I got a call from a guy who wanted the number of a local pizza restaurant," said Jennifer Naughton.

Dispatchers undergo a six to eight week on the job training course where the new employee learns the ropes of the Public Safety field.

"Our girls learn telephone and radio techniques, learn about the area and street names and how to use the equipment," said Pensala.

In addition to answering 911 emergency calls, the dispatcher is responsible for monitoring burglar and fire alarms and providing field police officers with data on suspects from the Law Enforcement Agency Data System.

"Today, people demand more of our police officers and dispatchers," said Watkins.

To meet that future demand, a new 20' by 30' Public Safety center is planned for construction at the Antioch Village Hall.

"This addition will make the area's emergency system state of the art," said Watkins.

It has been a Cinderella season for the Antioch Upper Grade School wrestling team, which ended last week with one of their own being crowned a state champion.

Eighth-grader Jason Breen, who wrestled in the 144-pound division, was named the state champion in Springfield last week after winning his division at the Illinois Kids Wrestling Federation State Tournament.

Breen becomes one of three state champions since 1980 to hail from Antioch.

"Considering the number of wrestlers who participated in the tournament, it is fantastic that Jason won," said Antioch Upper Grade School Athletic Director and Wrestling Coach Steve Alberts.

At the April 6 Antioch Village Board meeting, Mayor Robert Wilton presented Breen with a gift from the Board. The Village Board presented Breen with a state champion sweatshirt.

"To have a state champion from Antioch is amazing, especially during the year of our centennial birthday," said Wilton.

team ended its regular season at 13-2, which included an impressive team tournament win at the Northwest Grade School Conference Wrestlers Tournament in Grayslake on Feb. 15.

Other Antioch wrestlers invited to wrestle at the state tournament in Springfield were: Lucas Dyer, Tad Harper, Ron Werchek, Matt Henkel and Steve Meyers.

between Crew's attorneys, the store chain that sold the seat, Child World Inc., and the manufacturer of the seat, International Manufacturing Co., which is now out of business.

The Child World store, where the Crew's bought the child seat, in Waukegan was one on several Chicago area Child World stores that closed earlier this year when the chain tried to cut its losses.

The seat's manufacturer, International Manufacturing Co., went out of business in 1986 after selling some 60,000 seats from 1983 and 1985.

The terms of the settlement bar all parties from revealing the brand name of the seat but many still could be in circulation at second-hand stores or garage sales.

Van Patten wins scholarship

Deanna Van Patten of Antioch, has been named the recipient of the Morningside College "Wilson Seeley Lewis Scholar Award." The award carries a two-thirds tuition stipend.

Van Patten is one of 16 top high school students from across the country who won an academic scholarship under the college's unique academic program, "Competition in Excellence."

To qualify, Van Patten had to score at least a 27 or higher on the ACT

(American College Testing) exam or 1050 on the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test), and rank in the top 20 percent of her class. Selection was also based on leadership qualities in high school, community and church activities.

Local birthday girl hopes to reach 100

by LIZ SCHMEHL

3/4 of a century

On March 17 (St. Patrick's Day) Millie Morenz of Antioch celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday. In honor of this special occasion her daughter, Darlene Olenick, hosted a family dinner gathering. On hand to enjoy Darlene's deliciously prepared meal of filet mignon, bake potatoes, corn on the cob and salad were—Tricia, Deanna, Missy and Bob Olenick, Millie, Cathy, Ron and Bobby Morenz, and Alan Noon. After dinner the family relaxed and enjoyed friendly conversation as they waited for the meal to settle before digging into the desserts of french silk pie and strawberry short cake. Congratulations, Millie, on this special birthday and I will be glad to write about your 100 birthday when it rolls around. Could this paper and readers actually put up with me for another 25 years—only time will tell!

Cute story

Around the time of George Washington's birthday, Miss Marie read the Camp Crayon children a story about our first president and explained you would find his picture on a one dollar bill. After this brief history lesson she went around the circle with a brief review asking the little ones the name of our first president. As a clue I told them to think about washing clothes and when little Justin Forster said "George Washing Machine", I knew my so-called

"helpful" clue wasn't exactly helpful afterall!

Varsity wins first game

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch's baseball team picked a good time to have a few bounces go its way.

The Sequoits broke into the win column for the first time Tuesday in the young baseball season with a 1-0 win over Carmel.

The game-winning hit came in the third inning. Erick Blaha sent a flyball which carried, on a bounce, past the Carmel center fielder. The hit eventually turned into a homerun and was the only run Antioch would need.

"He hit the whole thing. It would have been a double if it had been fielded cleanly," Antioch Coach Greg Decker said.

Blaha, a junior, has been a strong hitter for the Sequoits of late, batting in the third or fourth spot, Decker said.

Keith Lindbloom was the winning pitcher. The right-handed senior struck out 10 and allowing just three walks and three hits.

"He did an outstanding job of keeping Carmel off-stride all the time," Decker said.

"We never threatened. We got only one runner to second base," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

John McMahon of Carmel (2-3) did not have a poor outing as he surrendered just three hits, walked two and struckout eight.

The Sequoits (1-4) continue the non-conference portion of the season at St. Viator April 11.

Antioch opened the season with a 5-1 loss to Schaumburg but fell in the nightcap 20-0 in five innings. Schaumburg took advantage of seven Antioch errors in the nightcap.

The same case seemed to repeat itself against Waukegan. The Sequoits fell 4-1 but lost 12-4 in the second game.

"We have trouble keeping our concentration for a five or six hour day. It is something we definitely have to work on," Decker said.

New power lines cause debate on EMF effects

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

With new 138,000 volt powerlines being added in and around Lake Villa, the question about the effects of living near high voltage lines continues to be asked by local citizens.

But what are EMF's and what kind of danger do they cause to humans, especially those who will live nearest to those new lines?

Electric and Magnetic Fields (EMF) are everywhere. The only thing scientists know for sure is that they do not know what the effects to humans are.

Hundreds of scientific studies have been done throughout the world and the results have been extremely hard to interpret, even conflicting. Most scientists believe that more information is needed and more studies must be done before intelligent conclusions about the real dangers of EMF exposure can be made.

According to the Commonwealth Edison pamphlet titled "Your guide to understanding EMF," wherever there is electricity, there are EMFs. EMFs surround us at work, school, at home and in the streets. During most daily activities, we are continually exposed to varying levels of EMFs.

The concern is that, by some unknown factor, there are small, short term changes in laboratory tested cells when exposed to EMFs. Do these short term changes signify dangers to humans who live near a constant EMF source? Again more research is needed.

The very fact that EMF's from man-made power sources move differently than EMFs from natural sources could explain why there may be a health risk.

But as more studies are being done, local residents still want more specific information into the effects of EMF exposure.

"We can't play Russian roulette here. There have to be other alternatives," said Lake County Board Member Suzi Schmidt.

What is known is that EMFs are not like Microwaves or X-rays. Microwave energy causes heating when passed through objects that contain water. This is the principle at work when you use the microwave oven. X-rays on the other hand, have enough energy to break apart molecules that contain genes and over exposure to these rays can lead to mutations and cancer.

EMF's do not contain enough energy to break apart molecules or cause rapid heating. "EMF's have a much lower frequency and energy than microwaves or X-rays, and do not have the same effects on the human body," stated the pamphlet.

New technology has made it easier to detect EMFs. Recent detection information has shown that EMF levels are higher closer to their source and drop off rapidly with distance. It is with this type of behavior that demonstrates exposure from some household appliances might actually be higher than from the high voltage wires located outside the house some distance away.

"It is still unclear whether brief, high-level fields from appliances such as hair dryers have more impact than continuous, low-level fields from power lines, wiring and other sources," stated the EMF pamphlet.

Although EMF studies have not shown the need for change in the way people use electric appliances, you can take the following steps to reduce EMF exposure.

Due to the fact that EMF levels drop off with distance, reduce the time your next to an appliance to a little as necessary. Increase the distance your family sits near the TV when it's on. If you must use a personal computer, try to sit at least an arms length away from the screen.

"The best way to limit your EMF exposure at home is to become more aware of the way you use electrical appliances and keep in mind the way EMFs behave," stated the pamphlet.

More information about EMFs can be obtained from Commonwealth Edison at 1-800-334-7661.

Cutting the uncuttable

Evidence is mounting that administrators and school board members are facing financial management of the public schools with new found confidence and determination to stretch tax dollars and a dwindling supply of state aid.

How else can the round of faculty and staff cutbacks, and program revisions with an eye toward economy, be explained? As recently as a year ago, school officials tended to react meekly to union intimidation along with pressure from special interest groups. This spring, in preparation for the 1992-93 term, practically every school district is undergoing substantial budget cuts. Healthy six figure budget cuts are being made "where not an ounce of fat" could be found in the past.

The reality of the five per cent tax cap, without a doubt, is taking hold. So is the realization that the only direction state funding is going to take is downward.

Inequity no bargain

Cook County's unique property classification system for determining real estate taxes unintentionally contributes mightily to commercial growth in Lake County and other collar counties.

The highly politicized system, granted Cook under its status as a home rule county, and availability of relatively inexpensive vacant land suitable for development in Lake County, make Lake County an attractive alternative for businesses seeking escape from Cook County's onerous valuations which are not based on 33 1/3 percent like the rest of Illinois.

An article in Chicago Enterprise, a publication of the Commercial Club of Chicago, described how Charmilles Technologies "escaped" Cook County for a new home in Lincolnshire and cut its real estate taxes more than half. In Mount Prospect the North American division of a Swiss firm manufacturing metal-cutting tools paid $100,000 a year in taxes for a 33,000 square foot facility. In Lincolnshire, the firm's new home of Doubtlessly, the wrath of beleaguered taxpayers is being taken into consideration in financial planning.

The Illinois State Board of Education is pushing initiatives like it has never pushed before. One of Lake County's larger unit districts, Round Lake Dist. 116, on the so-called "certified" watch list, is making deep cuts to deal with $5.4 million in short-term debt and $11 million in long-term debt, where only a few years ago board members knuckled under to unrealistic union demands to spend money for teacher raises the district didn't have. Also on the watch list is North Chicago Unit Dist. 187 which is facing dissolution unless long-standing budgetary problems can be solved.

Heavy-duty budget cuts and threats of state takeover were unthinkable in the past. But today the unthinkable is happening.

50,000 square feet has a real estate tax bill of only $47,000. The article explained that a Cook County business pays a tax assessed on about 73 percent of market value. The Lake County assessment is 33 percent.

No wonder businesses have been fleeing Chicago and Cook County in droves for years. While Lake County is gaining in jobs and assessed valuation, the demand hereabouts for commercial property has jumped values more than 79 percent and industrial property 40 percent, according to the magazine.

Is Cook County's loss Lake County's gain? Not necessarily. The disparity in taxation policies puts tremendous growth pressure on Lake County. An even playing field providing for natural market forces to interact would be more desirable for everyone.

But that is an unlikely possibility considering Cook County's political structure putting an emphasis on favoritism rather than fairness.

Letters to the Editor

Industry, not housing

Editor:

Village administrators and trustees of Grayslake and Gurnee are patting one another on the back and calling out, "Look how we are growing."

Yes, they are growing. But what about their schools, sidewalks, fire and police departments and other village needs? Wait until the 1993, 1994 and 1995 real estate tax bills come out. Yes, they will be growing also, in many cases faster than the property owners can pay them.

What will village officials say then? If impact fees were enough to do the job, there would be no need to increase taxes. However, it is obvious they are not. Forget housing and find some industry.

Demented school views

Editor:

I think many of the ideas Lauren R.

Januz on alternatives for Libertyville High School are complete idiocy. It is apparent that Mr. Januz has never had a child go through Libertyville High School. It may also account for his demented views on the whole subject.

Many graduates and their parents are very pleased with the education they received at LHS; I know I am. I also know it would not have been possible without the highly qualified, talented, and dedicated administration and faculty.

Mr. Januz has the idea that the county superintendent should run all the schools and that we abolish all the local administrations. We all know how well it works for the City of Chicago's public school system with teacher strikes every year. We need local administrators to deal with the unique school system we have here.

Mr. Januz says we should "cut out the courses that really belong in the college level." The very courses that give Libertyville High graduates a better edge for when they enter highly competitive colleges and universities. Mr. Januz went on to state several radical measures we could take to reduce the student load such as adding more hours to the school day; having an 11 month school year and allowing students to graduate in three years; or dividing the student body in half with some going to school on Monday-Wednesday-Friday and others going Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday, which would mean either getting more faculty or paying existing faculty more and increased operating expenses for classes on Saturday.

Family businesses spell their success in human terms

By BILL SCHROEDER

Pow! Pow!

Just like that, the retail community as we know it suffered two body blows last week. First was the Monday morning blockbuster that the Globe Dept. stores, a Lake County institution almost 100 years old, is closing forever. Later in the week came the surprising announcement that Polk Bros., the appliance giant that has been a household word ever since television merchandising was invented, is pulling the plug on all its metropolitan area outlets.

In our dynamic economy, the two closings amount to a blip in a confused and uncertain picture. But in personal terms, the disappearance of Globe and Polk Bros. are producing a wave of aches and pains. What in the world is happening?

Polk Bros. is an example more than ever that a retail chain is a sum of its parts. In the overall view, local conditions don't mean much. Polk's Mundelein store, for example, was doing great business, running an estimated 40 percent over last year. Unfortunately for Mundelein, Polk management found itself with a company saddled by declining margins and disappearing profits with no turn around in sight.

For the Globe stores, an integral part of Lake County's business and social fabric for so many years, the closing is more complicated. President Robert Morrison called his staff together for a breakfast meeting and told them the sad news. "Toughest decision I've ever had to make," Morrison related. Morrison's reasons are couched in family terms more than business. Morrison's wife, Janet, once a highly visible and respected leader on the Lake County Board, has been suffering from a lingering illness. There is no third generation to keep a family business going. This was a case where a wife's health came before a man's business.

When prominent, successful stores that have contributed to the local economy for years close, a void results that is never completely filled.

Glitzy, well stocked mall stores can't replace the warm, friendly feeling of shopping at the Globe stores in Waukegan, Antioch and Fox Lake. In its hey day, a trip to a Globe quite often resulted in a chat with one of the brothers, Jerry Sr., Seymour or Bob. Their sales people, more often than not, were long-time employees recruited from the community who knew most of their customers on a first name basis.

My favorite recollection of what shopping at the Globe meant in human terms was the time the lady of the house had the entire Schroeder brood in tow when son, Bob, a darting and daring four-year-old, dashed ahead only to trip and fall head first into the corner of a show case. Dazed and bleeding, Bob obviously was a candidate for a trip to the emergency room. With mom at his side, Fox Lake paramedics whisked Bob off to Victory Hospital.

It was only after the youngest member of the family was stitched and treated that mom had an opportunity to take stock of what happened to the other three offspring. There they were, seated in the hospital waiting room under the watchful eye of Bob Morrison, who had rounded up the kids and followed the emergency vehicle to Waukegan in his own car.

I've often wondered how much more complicated that this One Man's Family emergency would have been had it not been for the thoughtfulness and concern of the owner of the store. To me, that's the unaccountable difference between a main street merchant and a mall manager.

Years later, Bob Morrison would never end a visit without the question, "How's Bob?" He never forgot. And neither did I.

Meet your Congressman—Master of the 'Fluff-off'

by ROBERT J. BYRNE

Write your Congressman. That's a suggestion made in order to have certain problems solved. It sounds good, but just how good is it?

Research had been done in the area of political reform, and a summary of possible solutions to certain problems evolved. That would certainly be something to share with those folks serving us in public office. Ah, yes, write your Congressman.

But that can be discouraging when you're told, "We'll look into it," and six months later you still haven't received any response.

I compared notes with a couple of friends about the responses they had received from elected officials. They were unhappy. I conferred with other friends in Florida, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Texas, Michigan and Wisconsin, and they conferred with friends in several other states.

We shouldn't have done that. We were already depressed.

I had served two and a half years chairing a National Legislative affairs Committee in a Chamber of Commerce and later was president of another significant Chamber for five years. I had been the supervisor of an all volunteer U.S. Senator's district office. In these capacities, and several others, I realized that more than a few people involved in government were of no value to society whatsoever.

I realized many others knew far more discouraging things than I knew. Matters were discussed in the early 1970's. It was realized that you get to Washington, D.C., by involvement in the Democrat or Republican Party, and when you get there, you can be part of another "Party" beyond your wildest imaginations. Visit Washington and come home and bring up the subject and no one listened. I hadn't yet learned that Albany, N.Y., was also a good place to "party."

Commentary

Now, in 1992, how far out has Washington gone? Good people go there, get fed up and exit.

So, you can write your Congressman and what will now happen? The results are in from all around the country.

Regardless of race, creed, color, national origin, and no matter what your standing in the community, you can be fluffed-off by your Congressman, and sometimes even in a timely fashion no matter what the subject is.

The substance of the best fluff-off letter is: "Thank you for sharing your views. Feel free to write anytime." Congratulation Cong. Robert K. Dornan (R-CA), you've got that one down to a science.

Other Congressmen at least mention the subject of the inquiry.

Then there's the Congressmen and Senators that simply don't reply at all. Apparently their staffs haven't been updated on the new word processing technology. Sen. Al "The Pal" Dixon (D-IL) didn't reply and he hadn't even lost the primary yet.

It gets worse. Some of us may actually like a meeting. After all, some of us might actually know some of those folks.

Phil Crane (R-IL) "is not available this month." Will the meeting ever occur? I feel certain it will before the year 2000.

You can actually meet with an old friend John E. Porter (R-IL) and get the gist of what good Congressmen often tell their constituents: "That's a good idea, but nothing can be done." And then there is the prominent civic leader from Princeton, IL. He isn't going to write Cong. Lane Evans (D-IL) and the words he used to describe Evans are better off not printed.

The new phrase, "Beltway Mentality," is defined as "Extremely high levels of arrogance, audacity and absurdity, with a natural ability to fluff-off everyone." Over 50 percent of those in the Beltway display dangerously high levels of the sickness, and its already spread to several state capitals.

For years those in Washington have done no more than muddle through all the problems facing us. And now it's all caught up to them. The country's morale is the lowest since the Great Depression. This last year all Americans learned more about their Representatives than they ever really wanted to know. Blame for all our problems can be assessed everywhere, but mostly goes to those who, over the years, have paid no attention to the political process.

I'm told that Crane and Dornan have become very cynical. The summary of their friend's thoughts? "Knock it off."

And what could be said about all the rest? It is sort of like they all have been put "in the occasion of sin" or a situation of "entrapment."

Open letter to all the Washington Establishment:

The Party's over. Tune into "real people" and get rid of the "Spin Doctors" and "Pollsters." Solve a problem, any problem. Please.

Now, just what do all of us folks in the hustings do about all the problems?

Don't write anyone this week. Instead get out there and get directly involved in the political party of your choice get constructively involved in bettering your community.

Remember if you don't participate someone else will determine your future.

Let's all face up to our responsibilities.

Editor's note: Robert J. Byrne is president of Byrne Business Consulting with offices in Manlius, N.Y., and Gurnee, Ill. He was an unsuccessful candidate for a Republican nomination for Congress from an upstate New York district. Byrne is a past president of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce. He has written a book on public policy.

The one thing that is really astonishing is the way Mr. Januz continues to sum up the student body as drunken, dope smoking, drug using, sex crazed hoodlums. I guess he didn't quite get the message last time he summed up the students that way. I for one would enjoy seeing Mr. Lauren R. Januz on the ballot the next time there is an opening on the school board. It would give him a chance to see what other people think of his ideas.

Antioch 'Watergate'

Editor:

One month before the March 17 school Dist. 34 referendum, Antioch School Dist. 34 and the Illinois Federation of Teachers representatives ratified a new teachers contract.

The accepted contract was a pay raise of 20.5 percent over three years. This 20.5 percent teachers salary increase was hidden from the taxpayers and journalists until after the referendum.

Antioch's School Dist. 34 has proven to all concerned their lack of ethics, honesty and credibility through not saying and not publicizing this 20.5 percent before the referendum.

There were four weeks to go public, but it wasn't done. The increase was voted on at an open school board meeting but failed to notify the taxpayers of the results.

This deception has alienated citizens and shows a precipitous drop in trust of the school district.

On Feb. 18 the district was also deep in the midst of federal, state and county funding cuts which will show up as a budget shortfall.

This enormous cost increase must be paid by someone (the taxpayers). We, the taxpayers of Dist. 34 will not be snookered again in the future. The taxpayers must be protected from any future referendum by Dist. 34 and be closely scrutinized by you, the taxpayers.

McHenry politics isn't the same

NANCY'S NOT BITTER

Nancy Masterson is alive and well. After spending $200,000-plus in an unsuccessful attempt to become state rep in the new 52nd Dist. she is comfortably at home in Barrington.

The proper lady she is, Nancy spent the last two weeks writing polite thank you notes to anyone who did anything for her March campaign. Depending on the type of help, the note is long or short.

Re-elected Cuba Twp. GOP chairman in March, she supports the party ticket for the fall election. That includes Al Salvi, her opponent in the primary.

Masterson said she isn't disillusioned with the party or the way it played politics by endorsing her opponent over her. "That was just a big misunderstanding," she said without going into detail.

Masterson promises to be back looking for Salvi's job in two more years. "I've worked for the party more than 20 years and certainly won't stop now," said the lady whose mailings made her a household name from Fox Lake to Barrington and Libertyville to Lake Zurich.

"This job belongs to someone with high integrity," Nancy said while inferring she fills the bill.

Before taking on Salvi, though, betting is she will run for Cuba Twp. supervisor next year against incumbent Wayne Miller. In March he ran for the County Board in Dist. 17, placing a disappointing fourth in a field of five. To many, this means Miller is beatable.

WATCH PAM FLY

Watch me! Pam Newton says. She is the new Republican County Board hopeful in Dist. 18. The Vernon Hills trustee has almost made the big time after eight years in the local trenches.

The only female among five male counterparts on the village board, Newton says this prepared her to handle the male-dominated County Board.

She's got lots of ideas. Like making government of, by and for the people. She uses words like "public servant," "new style of politics" that is accountable and credible and "bringing pride back to politics."

"Keep your eye on me," she says. "Keep both eyes on me!"

If she's for real, she's what Lake County needs.

GOP TAKES LICKING

Some people think Al Jourdan should pay attention to business at home. The McHenry County GOP chairman since 1968 and state party chairman since 1988 is Mr. Republican to some people.

But look at the results of the March primary. Three party favorites met their Waterloo.

Associate Judge Sue Hutchinson beat incumbent Judge Ward Arnold on her way to becoming the first woman judge in county Circuit Court history.

Then there was the state's attorney race. Maverick Gary Pack defeated incumbent Tom Baker. That was a surprise.

The biggie, though, was the defeat of state Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-Crystal Lake) Running for Congress in the new 16th Dist., he lost to the better known Don Manzullo of Oregon. Even a fund raiser by his buddy, Gov. Jim Edgar, couldn't bail him out.

"Either the soldiers didn't carry the message or, if they did, the people didn't buy it" one observer said. As for Jourdan, he's still Mr. Republican to anyone who knows politics in Illinois.

He also holds the office of McHenry County auditor. For 20-plus years, no less. This is virtually a do-nothing office that was eliminated almost two decades ago in Lake County. That was after Robert Milton, then Lake County GOP party chairman, passed onto his eternal reward after a dozen or so years of holding the same job.

NO MORE SIGN WARS?

Political sign clutter is still making news. County Board member Larry Leafblad of Highland Lake is trying to get colleagues to ban them from highway and byway right of ways. Don't count on it. Jim Fields of Antioch, for one, doesn't agree. He says such signs are vital to his political survival.

Now, along comes Democrat Julia Edwards of Round Lake Heights. She will challenge incumbent Suzi Schmidt for the County Board in the Dist. 3 November election.

"I challenge Schmidt to limit the placement of signs to yards of supporters only, thus eliminating the unsightly look of our main arteries," Edwards proposes. She also wants Suzi to make this a person-to-person campaign, thus eliminating what she calls landfill trash.

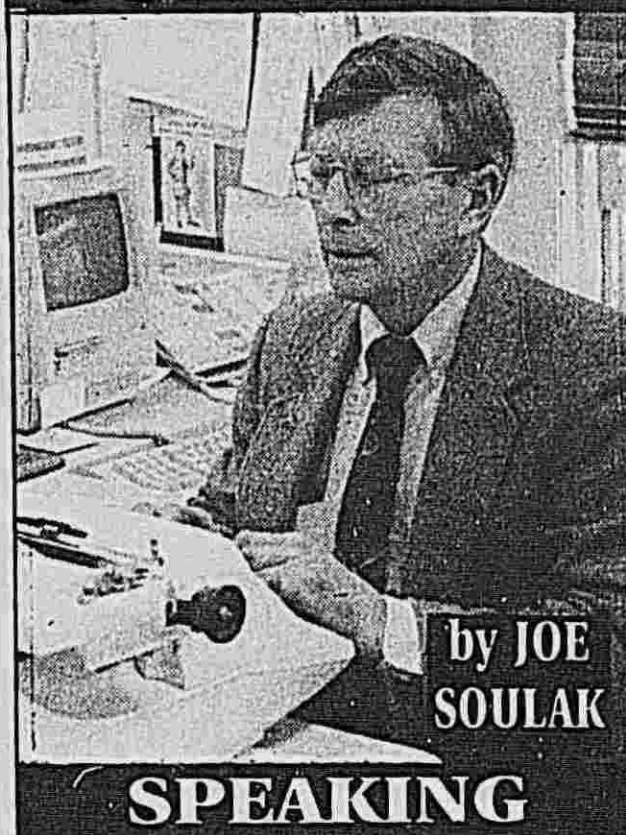

Suzi said she will if other candidates will. But they won't. As for the fall election, there won't be many signs. Edwards doesn't have the money. Schmidt doesn't need them.

The sign wars are over. To the victors go the spoils. Without significant Democratic opposition in November the winners are just as good as elected.

OVERHEARD/SEEN

GRAYSLAKE—Apologies are due Avon Twp. Supv. Russell Christian. I said he was dumped as township Republican party chairman in a March election. "I announced weeks before I was not a candidate for re-election," Christian said. "My intent was and is to run for treasurer of the county party." This set up a battle between former Round Lake Park Trustee Charlene Beyer and township Hgwy. Comm. Pat Anderson. Beyer won. WAU-CONDA—New township GOP party chairman is Fred Bigham of Island Lake. He succeeds Jerry Beyer, the township supervisor, by mutual agreement. Bigham is known for running successful election campaigns. This puts him on the party's board of directors where he can have an even bigger influence in campaigns of the future. ROUND LAKE PARK—New Avon Twp. GOP party chairman Charlene Beyer claims she's not a politician. Why is she in the driver's seat instead of township Supv. Russell Christian? "Because

by JOE SOULAK

SPEAKING

I want to return the party to the little people. I want them to have a voice." Beyer is a conservative. LAKE VILLA—Among the last-minute primary flyers in Lake Villa Twp. was the reprint of a newspaper picture showing challenger Barbara Oilschlager with four area mayors—Paul Baumunk of Lindenhurst, Joyce Frayer of Lake Villa, Carl Schimpf of Round Lake Beach and Sandy Morris of Round Lake Heights. "Four men of the Apocalypse," the flyer was headlined. "Working together for the destruction of our way of life." Needless to say, this helped destroy the campaign of Oilschlager, a College of Lake County trustee. Incumbent Suzi Schmidt did win. WAUKEGAN—One of the big question marks of the March campaign hangs over the head of Atty. Clifford Weaver. He is the well-paid corporation counsel for the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. Weaver gave $1,500 to the spring campaign of Taxpayers for Good Govt. That's the Libertyville political action committee of Jack Martin. Mostly, it supports pro-development candidates and had a role in last fall's failing Forest Preserve Dist. referendum.

Increase in sex crimes in '91 linked to greater awareness

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

Cases of sexual assault and sexual abuse in Lake County increased in number last year, but that could be the result of society's growing awareness of the crimes, county sheriff's officials said.

Sexual assaults reported to the sheriff's office rose 45 percent from 1990 to 1991, from 42 cases to 61, according to the annual sheriff's report released last week. Reports of sexual abuse rose about 15 percent, from 59 cases in 1990 to 68 in 1991, the report stated. The figures include both actual and attempted crimes.

But a sheriff's official emphasized that the numbers mean more cases are being reported and said the increase could be due to the increased attention sex-related crimes have received in media outlets such as talk shows, films and books.

"We find that the more and more that these types of situations are brought to the attention of the public through the media, the more and more of it gets reported to us," said Lt. Stephen Towns-end.

The increase in reported sexual abuse could also be due to the efforts of the Children's Advocacy Center, an interdepartmental team formed in the late '80s that investigates allegations of child sexual abuse in the county, Towns-end.

And Towns-end said reports of crime of all sorts can be expected to rise "naturally" as the county's population grows.

In other trends, sheriff's police handed out almost 2,000 more traffic tickets last year than they did in 1990, the report stated. The number of tickets jumped about 13 percent, from 15,947 tickets in 1990 to 17,946 in 1991.

Towns-end attributed the increase to recent restructuring in the sheriff's office's traffic enforcement program. Instead of having all individual officers handle traffic stops, the sheriff's current traffic team has four officers working exclusively on traffic enforcement. The team identifies and targets areas that produce the most offenses, and works split shifts to cover the areas at different parts of the day.

Thefts of items from motor vehicles went up sharply in the reports, from 569 in '90 to 692 in '91—a rise of about 22 percent. Thefts of autos themselves went up about 12 percent, from 274 to 308.

Towns-end said the rise in auto-related crime could be due to people's "lackadaisical" attitudes toward protecting their property. The sheriff's crime prevention section tries to educate residents, Towns-end said, with mailings, newspaper advertisements and public service announcements on cable television that advise such preventive measures as locking items in trunks.

There were definite drops in a number of categories, including reports of drug offenses, which dropped by a third from 140 in 1990 to 93 in 1991; and arson, down from 36 in 1990 to 25 last year.

Former MHS teacher convicted of child pornography charges

When former Mundelein High School art instructor Randall Benjamin was arrested at the school Oct. 2 and charged with possession of child pornography, students learned a quick lesson in how the criminal justice system of our nation works. Friday, April 3, Benjamin was convicted of those charges.

He resigned his position at the school shortly after his arrest and has maintained his innocence all along. A jury of 10 men and two women deliberated nine hours before finding the 43-year-old guilty after a four-day trial before Associate Circuit Judge Christopher Starck.

Benjamin could be sentenced up to six years in prison and will almost certainly lose his state teaching certificate in the wake of his conviction on multiple Class 4 felony charges. Sentencing is set for May 29. He remains free on bond.

Benjamin was arrested after an investigation by U.S. Customs agents. An undercover agent delivered a movie to Benjamin's home in June 1990, entitled, "Educating Valerie," which depicted a 10-year-old girl engaging in sex acts with adult men, from a fake mail order company actually run by customs agents.

A ruling on a similar case in Idaho this past week where a man was convicted in a customs engineered sting operation was repealed by higher courts. The ruling will likely be used as ground for a repeal in Benjamin's conviction as well.

This is work? Sports fans since childhood, John DeGuiseppe (far left) and Bob D'Amico grew up to own their own sports card and memorabilia shop, Prime Time Sports Collectibles in Mundelein's Townline Mall, 1515 S. Lake St. The co-owners hover over some of the store's caps and choicest sports cards. Above, DeGuiseppe stands by a wall of plaques picturing sports heroes.—Photos by Dan Bernard

A sports nut's dream shop—without the horrors

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

Anyone who collected baseball cards as a kid knows the type of store Mike D'Amico is talking about. Like Indiana Jones, you know there's treasure in there somewhere, but you have to get through a heck of a Temple of Doom before you get to it.

"It's a disaster, what some of these places do," said D'Amico. "You look at the front of these places, and you don't know what it is—a coin shop, a resale shop, or what. You walk in and it's totally obliterated. The windows have got boards on them, and there's no sunlight to speak of."

"These places are usually jammed full of all sorts of stuff—used jewelry, halloween masks, old furniture. If three or four people can get into the store, that's a major roadblock."

"One place I went to, in the suburbs, the display case had a light socket in it, and if you touched the metal, the display case actually gave you a shock, because the socket had a short."

"That's no place for kids."

The Card Shop of Doom is a thing of the past, as far as D'Amico is concerned. Prime Time Sports Collectibles, his burgeoning chain of sports cards and memorabilia shops, omits the gothic horror of the funky little card shops of the past in favor of a clean, professional look. It's the sort of place D'Amico decided to create after seeing the other kind as a kid.

A Prime Time in Mundelein's Townline Mall opened January 31, and the co-owners, D'Amico's uncle Bob and his friend John DeGuiseppe, hope Lake County sports fans agree that their shop is the wave of the '90s.

"We like to think (Prime Time) is more like Marshall Field's, compared to the Wal-Mart of the old-time card shop," D'Amico said. "It's complete, professional, family-oriented. It's more or less a big change from what were traditionally holes in the walls."

"And I believe you can get high-quality products and presentation at little cost."

A warning: At the store at 1515 S. Lake Street, Mundelein, the selection of items for sale and on display may cause salivation in sports-collectible buffs. Sure, there are the professional-league cards—including the Mundelein shop's crown jewel, a 1964 Mickey Mantle worth $225.

(Is that right? One little piece of cardboard? Worth 225 bucks?)

"Who knew?" Mike D'Amico said. "Back in the early '60s, the neighborhood kids would buy these cards at candy stores just for getting the gum to chew it. The cards, we could have cared less. We put them in our bike spokes as noisemakers."

"If I could go back to 1963 now, my God, I could retire on some of those cards I had."

But apart from the cards, the store has autographed memorabilia, posters, hobby supplies, statues, pennants, licensed clothes and cap, plaques, photos and gift certificates for all of the above.

And then there's stuff you really wouldn't expect to find at a sports store: trading cards featuring Operation Desert Storm figures, rock stars, soccer stars, "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Andy Griffith Show." Uh-huh: Andy Griffith.

But getting into nontraditional sorts of collectibles is part of the D'Amicos' philosophy: They want to promote the stores as a wholesome environment for the whole family.

"There's an old stereotype that these guys (in card shops) will cheat these kids and rob 'em blind right in the store," said Mike. "But we have had kids come in and offer to sell us some great cards and we often decline to buy them. We tell them they ought to go back home, think it over and talk it over with their parents before they decide to sell them. Even if we're only talking about a few bucks here."

"And the parents are very comfortable with it," Mike said.

Often, parents on grocery runs at the nearby Jewel Food Store will drop their kids off at Prime Time and pick them up after they're done, DeGuiseppe said.

And to the owners' surprise, their best customers include women—not the stereotypical sports fans. Top items with women, who DeGuiseppe said comprise 40 to 45 percent of the clientele, include all sorts of Chicago Bulls apparel and sportswear for babies.

Mike D'Amico, 38, made a career of sports even before going into the collectible shop business. He has been since 1988 owner and president of Living Legends, a sports marketing firm that acts as middleman between companies that want professional athletes for endorsements or personal appearances and the athletes willing to do it.

And D'Amico's connections in the sports world through Living Legends means he can virtually guarantee stars at the openings of current and future Prime Time franchises, he said. The Chicago Bears' Kevin Butler was on hand at the Mundelein store's grand opening Feb. 27.

The "flagship" Prime Time opened in Schaumburg in August of last year. That store houses D'Amico's most valuable collectible items, such as baseball bats, footballs and jerseys autographed by the greats. Mike hopes to open the third Prime Time, in Arlington Heights, in early to mid-June. His ambition is to franchise 20 Prime Times around the country, including in Colorado, Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, in the coming year.

For Bob D'Amico and DeGuiseppe, taking up Mike's business offer was a dream job.

"It's like a job you can do that has everything to do with something that you think is fun already," said Bob, 43.

"We feel like we make dreams come true a little bit for people," said Mike. "You feel like you're actually getting a chance to touch history."

"I had a guy come into (the Schaumburg store), an attorney from Dallas in his mid-30s. He collected bats. Nothing else, just bats. And he knew everything about 'em, too."

"He saw my case of bats and nearly had a heart attack, I'll tell ya."

"I could tell he was into it big, so I let him hold a few. He'd never had a Babe Ruth or a Lou Gehrig bat before. And then I got the Hank Aaron bat, the bat he used the year he broke Babe Ruth's hitting record."

"I think that was the highlight of his life up to that point."

For DeGuiseppe, at 53 a self-professed old-timer, the store is his way of passing on to younger generations his lifetime passion, sports.

"I grew up so much involved with sports," DeGuiseppe said. "A lot of kids ask me a lot of questions. Now, most kids nine and 10 years old have only heard of Mickey Mantle, but they know I was around in his time," he said, laughing. "Some of them even asked me about Babe Ruth, but I say, 'No,' he said, really laughing now, 'I'm not that old.'"

If you're thinking DeGuiseppe sounds a little sentimental, listen to this: When he saw the original Babe Ruth film biography starring William Bendix, he cried.

"I'll tell ya, I cried at the end," DeGuiseppe said. "When he dies and sacrifices himself for that experiment..." He trails off.

"I've got to say, whatever he did—the drinking, the corruption—you could tell he loved the little kids. And to me, that's a human being."

Amen.

Perfect contest picks net free movie passes

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

The envelope, please.

Ahem.

And the winners — in the Lakeland Newspapers/RMC Theatres Academy Award Contest — are Kevin O'Brien, David Obos, Dorothy Gasior and Julie Pruyn.

Applause.

O'Brien, a retired Illinois Bell public relations man and Libertyville resident, walked away with the top prize by making correct picks in all seven contest categories. He'll receive 12 free admissions to RMC Theatres.

O'Brien and his wife Terry are movie buffs.

"We don't go as much as we used to," O'Brien said. "My wife and I used to go to one at least once a week. Now, we try to go at least once a month. We do manage to see a lot of good ones."

Although they usually catch movies close to home — like at The Liberty, an RMC Theatre — the O'Briens will go on the road to see a film not destined for this area. "An Angel At My Table" is a recent example.

"Sometimes, we'll drive a ways to see a really good movie we don't think will get up here," he said.

O'Brien said he and his wife are often turned off by some current productions, which feature "an overuse of the F-word and other terrible language."

Nonetheless, the O'Briens didn't shy away from this year's big winner, "Silence of the Lambs," a graphic depiction of two psychotic killers.

O'Brien said his two favorite films of all time are the classics, "Casablanca" and "To Kill a Mockingbird."

Obos, Gasior and Pruyn all missed just one category and finished second, third and fourth, respectively, on the basis of earliest postmark.

Obos of McHenry will enjoy eight free admissions. He missed in the Best Actor category.

Gasior of Gurnee will receive six free passes. She picked incorrectly in the Best Supporting Actress category.

Pruyn, a Round Lake Beach resident, will get four free admissions. His single error was in the Best Director competition.

Ten runners-up will receive two free passes to RMC Theatres, which are located in Antioch, Libertyville, McHenry (2), Crystal Lake, Grayslake and Zion.

In case you missed them, the correct picks were "Silence of the Lambs" (Best Picture), Anthony Hopkins (Best Actor in "Silence"), Jodie Foster (Best Actress in "Silence"), Jack Palance (Best Supporting Actor in "City Slickers"), Mercedes Ruehl (Best Supporting Actress in "The Fisher King"), Jonathan Demme (Best Director for "Silence") and Alan Menken (Best Original Score for "Beauty and the Beast").

Passover Seder enhances meaning of Communion

by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ
Lakeland Newspapers

Drawing parallels between the Passover celebration and Communion, Melissa Moskowitz of Jews for Jesus has planned a walk-through of the holiday's symbolism at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Evangelical Free Church of Wauconda.

Held in the gym, tables will be set with traditional items commemorating the Jews' exodus from Egypt, from where the story of Passover is taken. Annually, a Seder, a service re-telling the story, is held. Moskowitz will discuss the service, explaining foods from the "Seder plate" representing aspects of the biblical tale. Some of the foods will be sampled.

The traditional Passover accoutrements enhance Christians' understanding and appreciation of the Jewish background of the Communion celebration, said Pastor Christopher Barnes. In particular, he explained how matzoh (unleavened bread Jewish people eat for the seven days of Passover) symbolizes Jesus Christ.

"The nature of the bread," Barnes said, "is both stripped and pierced. That bread is a picture of Jesus Christ. The fact that it is unleavened is an indication that it is without sin; and then Jesus Christ was whipped and stripped before he went to the cross; and then at the cross he was pierced."

Other parallels will also be drawn at the presentation, written in 1956 by Moishe Rosen. Rosen contended that some of the most important elements of Christian doctrine, such as the Trinity; the principle of substitutionary atonement; and salvation through a personal relationship with the Messiah are implied in the Seder.

"It's interesting," Barnes said. "Anyone who wants to better understand the Jewish culture, it really provides a lot of information. They will have many props that are part of the ceremony, and that really, as you watch it, it's like a surprise."

Among the Seder items are salt water, symbolizing tears; horseradish, representing bitterness; haroset, a mixture of apples, cinnamon, wine and nuts, to show the sweetness of life in the promised land; egg signifying rebirth; a lamb shank bringing to mind sacrifice; and greens as an example of springtime and new beginnings. Also on the Seder plate, the main platter, is a goblet of wine, traditionally silver, for the prophet Elijah.

Ancient and modern Jewish customs will be discussed and described with an emphasis on the aspect of redemption which Christ accomplished at Calvary, Barnes said. The program is open to the public and Moskowitz will be available to answer questions.

The Evangelical Free Church of Wauconda is located at 27215 N. Anderson Road at the intersection of Route 176. For more information, call 526-8254.

State office lease not politics, Martin says

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Controversy still surrounds the leasing of office space in Libertyville by the state from the politically-connected Jack Martin.

The space is the Driver's License facility at 342 Peterson Rd.

Martin, who owns the property, is also the owner of the adjoining Libertyville Saddle Shop at 306 Peterson Rd., is one of two officers of Taxpayers for Good Government and founder of Individuals for Responsible and Accountable Tax Equity (IRATE).

Taxpayers for Good Government funnels money from developers and real estate interests to endorsed pro-development candidates at election time. IRATE has taken important stands on area tax issues. Last fall it was instrumental in defeating a large Forest Preserve Dist. bond referendum. Earlier in the year it questioned a school referendum for almost $16 million to construct a new addition to Libertyville High School. That issue lost as did the same proposition and two alternatives, including building of a new high school, on the March ballot.

Raising questions about Martin's political connections last year and once again is F.T. "Mike" Graham, former Libertyville Twp. supervisor for 17 years and County Board member for 14 years. Graham was defeated as township supervisor by Ralph Swank Jr., a Martin-backed candidate, in 1989. He did not run for reelection to the County Board because of threatened federal grand jury probe of a job offer to a Libertyville trustee in exchange for a supposed offer of a county job. The probe was dropped in mid-1990, without any charges.

Graham asked for his own probe last year of Martin's lease with a state agency. He brought the matter to the attention of state Atty. Gen. Roland Burris. Nothing came of it. "I never heard from anyone," Martin said.

Again this year Graham wrote the new secretary of state, George Ryan. Likewise, there has been no reply.

Questioned is a long-term lease for the Secretary of State's Driver's License facility at 342 Peterson Rd. Located next to the Libertyville Saddle Shop, the strip mall in which it is located is owned by Martin.

Terms of the original lease called for payment of $14.70 per square foot for 5,000 square feet. This is 123 percent more than at the former location, 929 Milwaukee Ave., Graham said.

That site had only 4,000 square feet compared with 5,000 square feet at Martin's mall. The rent at the former location was $6.60 per square foot, 123 percent lower than the original lease. The former location is still vacant. Rental is a suggested $11 per square foot. There is adequate parking at both locations.

"Nowhere in my research can I find similar office space in Libertyville renting for $14.70 per square foot," Graham said. "It appears taxpayers are overpaying rental costs by at least 40 percent per month." He calculates this as being $20,000 annually or $100,000 for the original five-year length of the lease.

Last fall the lease was renegotiated for another five years. The cost was reduced to $13.20 per square foot. "This is still too high for the Libertyville area," Graham maintains.

Graham bases his calculations on $10.50 per square foot for 1,900 square feet almost directly across the street at 333 Peterson Rd. leased by the Lake County Storm Management Agency.

Last year the Illinois Dept. of Revenue moved from Wauconda to 800 Milwaukee Ave. where the rent is $8.20 per square foot. This compares with $7.56 per square foot paid in Wauconda.

Martin claimed last year when the controversy arose he is getting only a small return on the lease. Blamed is the high cost of remodeling to meet the state's requirements plus payment of taxes and utilities.

Of the $14.70 per square foot formerly paid by the state for the Driver's License facility, $1.25 was for utilities such as water, gas and electric; 75 cents for taxes

'Nowhere in my research can I find similar office space renting for $14.70 per square foot. It appears taxpayers are overpaying rental costs by at least 40 percent per month.'

and $4 per square foot for the $90,000 it took to remodel the space to the state's new specifications. "This brought the lease to $8.50 per month," which Martin said was well within the range of other leases for office space in Libertyville.

The new lease calls for reimbursement of $1.70 per square foot for utilities, $1.20 for property taxes and 30 cents for trash removal and maintenance of the common areas around the building. This brings the base lease to $10 per square foot, which Martin said is a 3.3 percent increase over past years.

A clause in both leases calls for reimbursement by the state for utility costs and taxes in excess of those covered in the lease.

Martin leases another storefront in the same shopping center to the Lake County Republican Party. Two years ago the party offices moved from downtown Waukegan to Martin's mall in Libertyville. The headquarters is now staffed full time with salaried people. In prior years the Waukegan headquarters had only one or two full-time staff. Regular hours were maintained with a largely-volunteer staff.

Graham said the higher rent for the Driver's License facility can be attributed to Martin's political connections. The lease was negotiated during the term of county Republican party chairman Robert Neal of Wadsworth, who served in that capacity until 1990. Neal and Martin became good friends during that time.

Neal is the nephew of Paul Neal, the late eight-year mayor of Libertyville. "Neal was a powerful mayor," Graham said. At one point Neal named Martin to a position on the village Plan Commission, a job he still holds.

"It only stands to reason that someone receiving steady income rental for 10 years, at least, is grateful," Graham said. Martin said those payments were $6,247 monthly for the first five years and $5,610 per month for the next five years.

Graham said Martin has contributed generously to political campaigns of both Neals in past years. In addition, when a 1988 countywide drive was underway for a full-time county executive, Martin provided office space for the campaign and $9,000 in cash and services. The younger Neal was County Board chairman at the time.

Another act of generosity by Martin was the late 1989, early 1990 rental of a former Chrysler dealership showroom in downtown Libertyville for use as the first Lake County Republican party headquarters outside of Waukegan. It became a focal point of 1990 elections for the County Board. That was the first time candidates were endorsed by the party in the primary, a practice that continued this election.

Martin said he is only being a good businessman.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Problem Resolution Program cuts through IRS red tape

by DICK WINTRODE

Sometimes, no matter how hard we strive to provide fast, courteous, and quality service to every one of you, we mess up.

Despite our best efforts to lessen the burden of tax filing, a few of you slip through the cracks and end up completely entangled in what we all perceive as "red tape." On the bright side, when these unfortunate situations arise, we have a giant pair of scissors to snip through that "red tape." We call our scissors the Problem Resolution Program (PRP).

The program steps in when you have tried your best to solve your own problem through all the normal channels available to you, and have failed. I know from personal experience that the program works. Recently my brother, who lives in New Jersey, called me because he was having a problem with "my IRS," as he calls it. Once I had determined that he had done all in his power to solve the problem through both phone calls and letters, I suggested he call his local IRS office and ask to be referred to the PRP office. He followed my advice and his problem was solved in a reasonable amount of time.

Cases come to the Problem Resolution Office for a number of reasons, some simply because of a lack of communications or because there is a "glitch" in the system. Still others originate because IRS employees have failed to do what they said they would do, such as telling a taxpayer they would get an answer in 30 days, and three months later the customer is still waiting.

Our PRP program was expanded when the Taxpayer Bill of Rights went into effect on Jan. 1, 1989. This gives the Problem Resolution Office the authority to issue a Taxpayer Assistance Order (TAO) when the Problem Resolution officer determines that a taxpayer is suffering or about to suffer a significant hardship as a result of how we handle their case. The TAO Program helps address these situations by establishing procedures to suspend action and review the account in order to relieve unintended results where possible. In other situations, hardship may result unless immediate action is taken by the Service (e.g., the processing of a claim or the issuance of a manual refund).

The TAO Program is not intended to circumvent provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, even though the application of the code results in hardship. Enforcement action, in and of itself, is not a hardship without additional factors affecting the taxpayer.

Form 911, "Application for Taxpayer Assistance Order to Relieve Hardship", is used to document hardship situations that require immediate review by PRP. During the review, any enforcement actions are suspended. You can ask the PRO to intervene in a hardship situation by completing and submitting a Form 911 or by letter.

I'd recommend two steps you should take if you are having a problem. First, call our taxpayer service information number (312)435-1040 to try and get the problem resolved through normal channels. Second, get a copy of the IRS Publication One,

"Your Rights As A Taxpayer." Call toll-free 1-800-829-3676 to have a copy of this publication or Form 911 mailed to you.

If you believe that your problem warrants action by PRP, call our tax information line and ask to have your case referred. Please have all the information available when you call so the person taking the information will be able to provide our PRP office with full details.

In closing, let me stress that the Problem Resolution Program is only for cases that have not been resolved through normal IRS channels or for hardship situations.

groaning. "Yean, I tried it a couple of times. I bombed," he says. He rubs his forehead and winces a little. "There are so many stories about me bombing....I don't want to give the impression I was a stand-up. I was never a stand-up."

"All I got out of it was a tremendous appreciation for what these people do," Haas says. "Myself, I lost the desire in a hurry. It's a very strange feeling to stand on stage, see no one—because the stage lights are in your face—tell jokes to a blank space," he says, hands raising to

Funny thing happened at the comedy club...

You know what's funny? Bert Haas does. Or he'd better, since he's responsible for booking comedians for the Zanies comedy clubs in the Chicago area. Three comics a show, nine shows a week at each of three clubs. That's roughly 4,212 comedian slots a year. That'll go up to 5,616 slots a year in August, when Lake County is scheduled to get its own Zanies, the fourth in Chicagoland, in Vernon Hills.

So how does he pick 'em?

"First of all," says Haas, with an expression both amiable and hard-nosed, "just because they make you laugh doesn't mean you book 'em."

Huh?

"That was a hard thing to learn," Haas says. He's a compactly built man, with glasses and a head of hair threatening to thin. He's an odd mix, like a pool shark crossed with an accountant.

"The difficult part is separating whether you like the act from whether audiences like the act. I've booked acts that I personally wouldn't stay in the same room with 'em. That's why most comedians make poor club managers, because their ego gets involved. They start comparing themselves to the act."

"Another factor is, I prefer clean acts. Not ruling them out totally—I just had a woman in Chicago who was very dirty, but very funny. More important I would say is originality, a unique style.

by DAN BERNARD

"Number four is, look and likability—what they used to call 'Q' factor. Because a guy can be the funniest guy in the world, but if people don't like him, they won't laugh."

Haas has to take the business of being funny very seriously. Like managers of comedy clubs across the country, Haas is riding the new popularity of live comedy that first surged in the middle of the last decade. He hopes to do his best to prolong it.

As one of the most successful club-chains in the country, Zanies seems to be doing all right so far. Owners boast that the original Zanies at 1548 N. Wells St. in Chicago was the first all-comedy club in the region when it opened in 1978. The chain has expanded regularly, opening locations in Nashville, Tenn., in 1983, Mt. Prospect in 1987 and St. Charles in 1989.

After uncorking the new club in Vernon Hills' Hawthorn Commons shopping center—opening low-key in August, with a full-blown grand opening in September—Haas and Zanies' owners will move immediately to look for a fifth Chicago-area club. With a projected opening date in spring 1993, candidates for the next Zanies include sites in McHenry County, southern Wisconsin, Chicago's far south suburbs, and the city's southwest and near north sides, Haas says.

The Vernon Hills club will be the largest in the Zanies chain, seating 300. It will also have a small kitchen serving fast food, a feature only the Mt. Prospect location has currently.

And the larger capacity means the Vernon Hills Zanies will be able to attract some bigger names—for example, comics Paula Poundstone, David Brenner, "Bobcat" Goldthwait, Brian Regan and George Wallace, Haas says.

Vernon Hills clubgoers will benefit from Zanies' learning experiences over 14 years, according to Haas. "Hopefully, we will be running the perfect club," he says. That means the "showcase" room, or performance area, will have no bar or bathrooms to distract audience members from the act; it will have "perfect" ventilation and lighting, and "no bad seats." The half-moon shaped stage will poke out into the audience so the seat furthest from the stage will be only 44 feet away, Haas says.

On top of the rise of live comedy as an entertainment option, Haas says he hopes the Vernon Hills club will be helped by the three-year construction project of the Kennedy expressway, Interstate Highway 90, which will inconvenience Lake County residents who might party in the city and convince them to stay in the area.

Funny thing happened when I asked Haas to come out to the parking lot for a photo. Move over that way a little bit, sir.

"Um, do you need those papers?" Haas says.

I follow Haas' finger to the other side of the lot, where my newspaper clippings are somersaulting toward Elmhurst Road. We both start running as if we were chasing fifty-dollar bills. Haas stomps on the one from February headlined "ZANIES WELCOMED WITH RESTRICTIONS" while I snatch up "ZANIES GETS OK FOR COMEDY CLUB" from March.

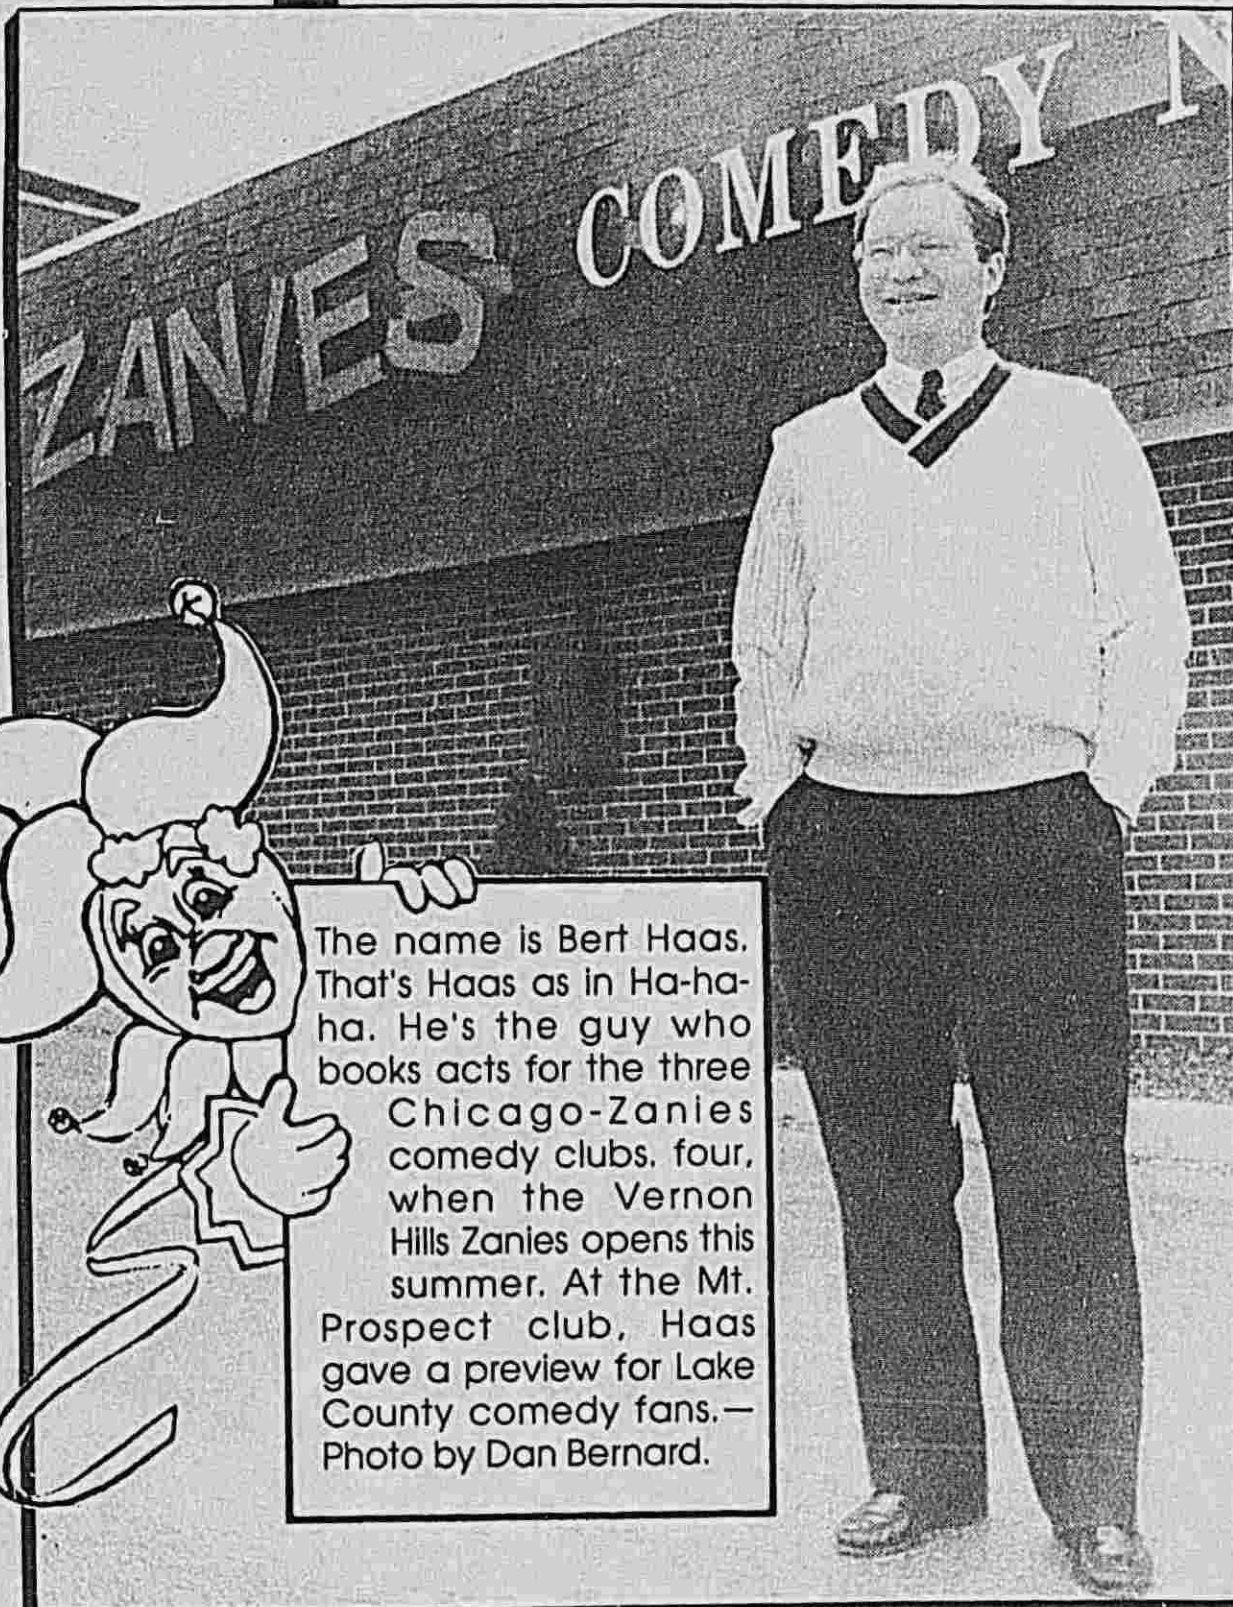

"Jeez, that was close," I say, laughing. But Haas, a 36-year-old Park Ridge native who started out as a Zanies waiter 14 years ago, doesn't laugh, he just nods. He doesn't laugh the whole time we talk, actually.

For a guy whose job is running comedy clubs, Bert Haas seems kinda serious. A guy who sees some of the funniest people in the country night after night. A guy who was himself a stand-up comic at Zanies, long ago.

"You shouldn't really put that in the article. Don't even mention it," Haas says, groaning. "Yeah, I tried it a couple of times. I bombed," he says. He rubs his forehead and winces a little. "There are so many stories about me bombing...I don't want to give the impression I was a stand-up. I was never a stand-up."

"All I got out of it was a tremendous appreciation for what these people do," Haas says. "Myself, I lost the desire in a hurry. It's a very strange feeling to stand on stage, see no one—because the stage lights are in your face—tell jokes to a blank space," he says, hands raising to

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

If you're looking for a dream vacation, any of the Hawaiian Islands will fit the bill. If you want to spend some time in Paradise, the island of Kauai has to be one of your stops.

But don't just take my word for it. When Hollywood was looking for the tropical island dream background for the filming of South Pacific, Blue Hawaii, Fantasy Island, Hook and dozens of others, they came to Kauai.

Jagged mountain peaks from which waterfalls tumble through a landscape filled with flowers and lush greenery are a backdrop for golden beaches and a brilliant blue sea, on this 549 square-mile island inhabited by less than 52,000 people.

I must point out that Kauai may not be for everyone. If you're looking for nightlife, you are on the wrong island. This is a place for those whose idea of nightlife is a walk on a moonlit beach with only the sounds of the waves breaking on a coral reef just out of sight.

Kauai's beauty is not confined to her beaches. A drive up into Waimea Canyon will have you wondering if you may be looking at the Grand Canyon in Arizona with its red, purple and gold rock walls!

Time for Jim's tips.

Leading off Kauai's only main highway are many dirt roads marked "No Trespassing". These roads do, indeed, cross privately owned sugar cane fields. However, they are used regularly by the local residents and are the only way to get to some of Kauai's real treasures, her "hidden" beaches. No one will bother you for using these roads as long as you respect the land upon which you cross. Once you get to the ocean, you will see signs pointing out public access to hidden beaches.

A good place to start is the cane road just past mile marker 1 at Ray's Auto Saloon. It takes you past several hidden beaches including a great body surfing beach called Donkey Beach. Watch for a strong undertow, though.

'Instinct' as base as they come

"Basic Instinct," the latest controversial film, has so many people curious to see what the hoopla is all about, it ranked No. 1 at the boxoffice last week.

Director Paul Verhoeven and actor Michael Douglas may have started out to make a sexier "Fatal Attraction II," but what they ended up with is one-third passable mystery thriller and two-thirds borderline pornography.

Maybe now that Douglas has hit his 40s he feels he has to bolster his sexual image, but what he has really done is break a good record of making meaningful films that make some sort of statement or other.

Verhoeven opens with the gruesome murder of an aging rock star with an ice pick by his partner during an amorous encounter and it gets grislier and baser from there on in.

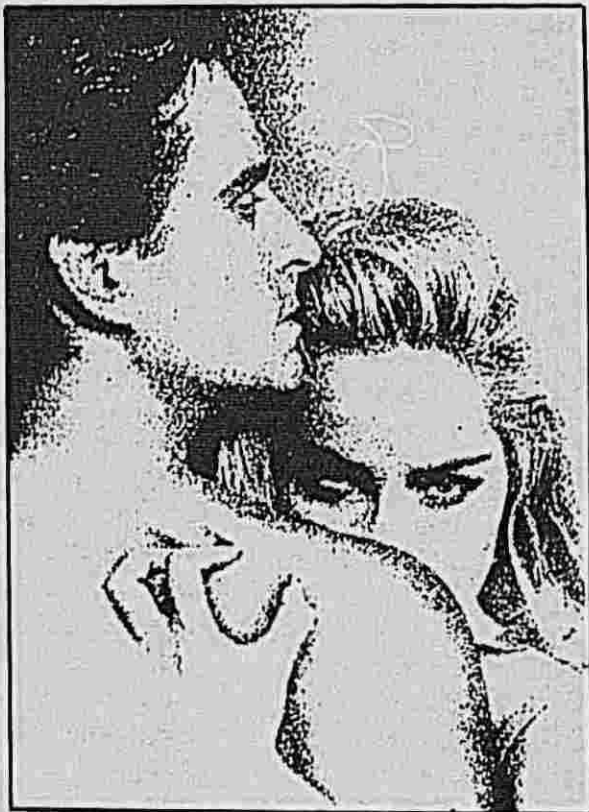

Sharon Stone is a poor little rich girl who has little better to do than to experiment with sex and write a book that features a cop falling in love with his prime murder suspect. She's as beautiful as an iceberg, dutifully suspicious and as hot as they come.

Douglas plays that not-so-stable cop who has a really big problem when he is drawn to Stone and her bi-sexual leanings.

In behalf of the one-third thriller, there are some clever plot twists here and there, but not enough to compensate for the explicit bed romping that fills the rest of the film.

The seduction scene that starts in an orgy-filled bar and moves into the bedroom, is as explicit as it could be without ending up in the X-rated file.

We give this one 1/2 star, not even worth a $2 video rental fee unless it is stacked in the adult movie shelf.—by GLORIA DAVIS

'Theda Bara and the Frontier Rabbi'

Critic's Choice

Sultry silent screen actress Theda Bara had a flashy but brief movie career (1914-1919), playing to the hilt the exotic character dreamed up by her Hollywood publicists.

In "Theda Bara and the Frontier Rabbi," a new musical comedy, the vamp is back. For two and one-half dizzying hours, the one-time siren fabled to have come from the Sahara but actually the Jewish daughter of a Cincinnati tailor is re-created onstage at Chicago's Wellington Theater.

It's an entertaining, but off-the-wall presentation, blending some fresh show tunes with an occasional stale joke. Starring Rachel Sweet as Theda/Theodosia Goodman, the Madonna of her day, the play brims with action and wacky humor under Vivian Matalon's direction.

Theda, despite her racy outward image, is a wholesome girl who desperately wants to meet a good Jewish man. Jason Graae, as the shy, Wild West loving rabbi, is drawn to the screen goddess. But things get complicated when a member of his congregation discovers him watching one of her films and he's later coerced into denouncing the actress who has come incognito to meet him after the service.

Ultimately, the good rabbit decides he likes Theda "better than (cowboy actor) Tom Mix."

"Theda Bara" continues through April 26. For ticket information call (312)975-7171.—by TOM WITOM

draw the blank space in the air, "and depend, basically, on the sound coming back to you from no one, the sound of people laughing."

"That's not as easy as a lot of people think it is," Haas says.

"Y'know, all of us have a sense of humor," Haas continues. "All of us have made a group of people laugh."

"But when you're expected to be funny—when people have paid money for you to be funny—the level of expectation is much higher than if you're sitting around with your buddies having a beer and catching one of 'em by surprise with a funny line."

But why do they pay? What's so great about listening to another regular schmuck like you flap his or her gums about the schmuck stuff you already know about? What's the attraction?

"It's a cheap date," guesses comedian Wendi Fox. "And well, they say that laughter is the best medicine. Maybe there's a lot of sick people out there."

"If nothing else, it's good for the cardiovascular system," she adds.

April 2, evening, Mt. Prospect. It's a half-an-hour before Fox is to go onstage to open tonight's bill.

"Sometimes you just walk into a room, and you think, 'Wait a minute—these people paid to see me?'" Fox says, laughing at the absurdity of her vocation.

'Paid? To see me? Just stand up there and talk? What a scam!'"

Raised on a horse farm in Indiana, Fox worked on a college degree in communications for a while before deciding spontaneously to go for broke on a local comedy club stage. Five months later, she quit her day job, moved to Palatine to be closer to the club-saturated Chicago area and set out to do comedy full-time. A bold move.

"Bold? Ha!" says Fox, a pretty but salt-of-the-earth blonde 25-year-old. "I was aimlessly wandering. Bold had nothing to do with it. I wasn't scared; I was too dumb to know what there was to be scared of. It was, 'ignorance is bliss.'"

As showtime approaches, we talk about what's she's scared of now that she's not too dumb to know.

"Most of the time, I'm never nervous before a show. There's nothing to be afraid of. Definitely not the audience—they came to laugh. And all the people you work with, the other comics, the managers...people are just people."

"Being afraid is just lack of faith, that's my pers'nal opinion. And even if you're afraid, if there's nothing you can do to change it, it's just a waste of time, anyway."

"But what about that blank space?" I ask her.

Fox looks at her watch. "I gotta go," she says, and darts out of the bar and through the stage door.

Lights go down.

Lemmetellyalittleabout myself. I'm originally from Indiana..." Fox says. The crowd murmurs. "Yeah, that always gets a great response," she says on the upbeat. They laugh. They like her.

Gradually, the comedy gets more intense, more real, more involving. Fox's gritty slams on her boyfriend ("I bought him a ouija board—'cause, you know, all those 900-number calls were getting expensive—and I caught him on it one day going, 'Soooo...what're you wearing?'") lead into the mug-a-minute, sophomoric lunacy of Floridian Dan Whitney ("My girlfriend left me for a Ph.D.—a Pizza Hut dude.") Which builds up to headliner Paul Kelly, a regular on cable and a Chicago Southsider, who spasms the audience with his tirades on communication breakdowns with his wife and kids. ("Every man in here has gotten yelled at for something they never said. 'I didn't say that, honey. No, I didn't mean that, honey. You are screaming at me for something I have never even thought, honey....Look, here's a dictionary. When I say a word, you look it up. That's what I mean.'") But he's so real. Almost too real. He walks the line between real-life anger and Bill Cosby-level brilliance.

As Kelly scrapes into the crust of his humanness, ripping his fingers through the muck, and howling about it, the crowd open its eyes. "It's true," they say. "That does happen." They squint skeptically at the man onstage, and they see that he is, honestly, laughing. It's not a put-on. His is truly aware of the frustrations and the unworkable snafus and the garbage of pitiful human existence, and he's laughing anyway. Really.

The room seems to get darker, but the crowd becomes more aware of itself, of each other, of the fellow perpetrators and victims of the garbage they're all belittling and mocking and laughing at. The room becomes smaller and the space between the people in the crowd approaches nothing. The sympathy is grinding and buzzing, and they're laughing at it all, them, him, us. The crowd is the joke is the comic is everybody everywhere.

The show ends. Lights go up, bar tabs are paid, receipts given. The doors open and the crowd tumbles out, back into the garbage they were laughing at. Still in it. But refreshed, and light-headed with realization.

"This is way better than a comedy movie," says Lucy Herrera, an 18-year-old Zanies patron from Chicago, "because a movie is like, the director says it the way he wants it. But here, the comic says it—the way it is."

"Uncensored," adds her friend Manuel Manzanilla, 29, of Chicago.

"And it's the stuff that's basically true that keeps you laughing," says Herrera.

Haas, as one might expect, agrees that a club setting provides the optimal comedy experience.

"Live comedy allows for interaction between the audience and the comic, and among the audience itself," says Haas.

"I heard some quote on the radio the other day—I think it was T.S. Eliot—that went, 'Television allows a million people to sit in a million living rooms, and hear the same joke, and laugh at the same time—and still feel lonely.'"

Wow, man.

"Funny, isn't it?"

You oughtta know.

Enjoying Easter

Easter is the great spring rite of family and tradition. Who can resist dyeing eggs in hues of robin's egg blue, lavender, rose and sunny yellow. We enjoy creating playful centerpieces so we buy lots of baskets and fill them with brightly colored cellophane grass, chocolate bunnies and special Easter eggs. Tree centerpieces are very popular this year, try my idea for making your own, inexpensively.

Easter Tree

Easter trees originated in Holland and were brought to America with the settlers who came to live here. Now we all share the custom and enjoy hanging colorful eggs and candies at Easter-time.

You will need:

- flower pot
- sand and rocks
- a well-shaped branch (even and balanced)
- paper wrapped sweets
- decorated blown-out eggs

Paint and decorate the flower pot. Select a well-shaped branch large enough for the table or area where it will be displayed. Spray paint the branch white, pink, lilac or gold, whatever color you'd like. After letting it dry, place securely into sand and rock mixture filled flower pot.

Tie pieces of hard wrapped candy or sweets to the branch. In between tie a decorated egg, blown-out eggs are the lightest and the best. Pass a thread thru the holes and anchor at each end with a bead.

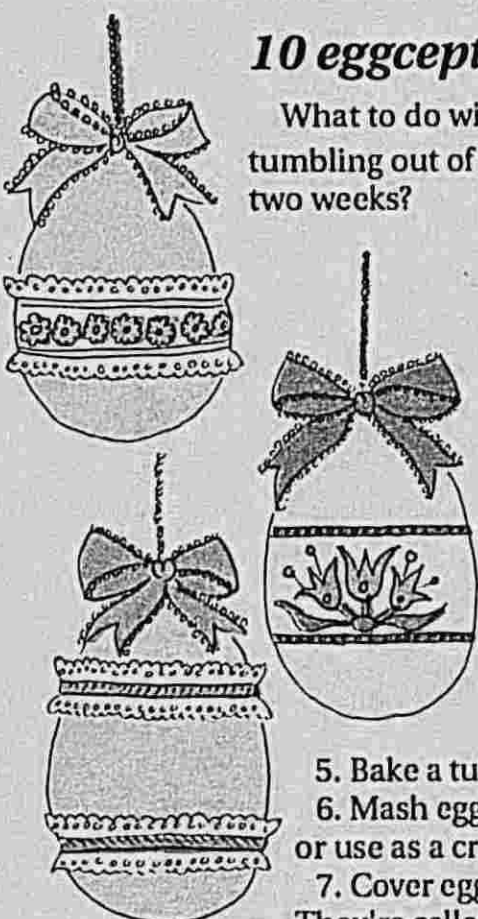

After Easter, pack the tree up carefully and it can be enjoyed for years.

10 eggceptable uses for your Easter eggs

What to do with those 50 purple, red, green and blue dyed eggs tumbling out of the refrigerator...Who wants a menu of egg salad for two weeks?

If hard-cooked eggs are kept refrigerated, they'll stay fresh a week to ten days, said Kay Engelhardt of the Egg Board.

Here are some eggceptable ideas:

1. Sieve the yolks and/or whites over cooked vegetables, such as asparagus or cauliflower.
2. Slice the eggs and add to a lettuce, macaroni, rice or potato salad.
3. Slice the eggs and float the slices on chicken-noodle soup.
4. Halve the eggs and remove the yolks. Combine with mayonnaise, salt and pepper and use to refill whites; or save the yolks for another recipe and refill the whites with another kind of egg-caviar (red is nice!).
5. Bake a tuna casserole and use sliced eggs as a garnish.
6. Mash egg yolks or whole eggs with a little butter and anchovy paste or use as a cracker spread.
7. Cover eggs with a meat crust (or sausage) and deep-fry them. They're called Scotch Eggs.
8. Place egg slices on toast and smother with a savory cheese sauce.
9. Mash a whole egg with some butter, cream and seasonings and serve as a sauce over pasta.
10. Halve an egg. Place halves cut side up. Insert a toothpick in the center of each with a triangle of cheddar cheese to resemble a little sailboat. Cute.

Bunny Carrot Cake

Ears are cut from stiff pink paper and placed behind the head. Frost bunny with cream cheese frosting, use jelly beans for eyes.

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. grated orange peel
- 2 large eggs
- 2 cups shredded carrots
- 1-1/3 cups flour
- 1-1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. ground cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 1/2 cup chopped almonds or walnuts
- Cream cheese frosting

About 1 cup sweetened shredded dry coconut

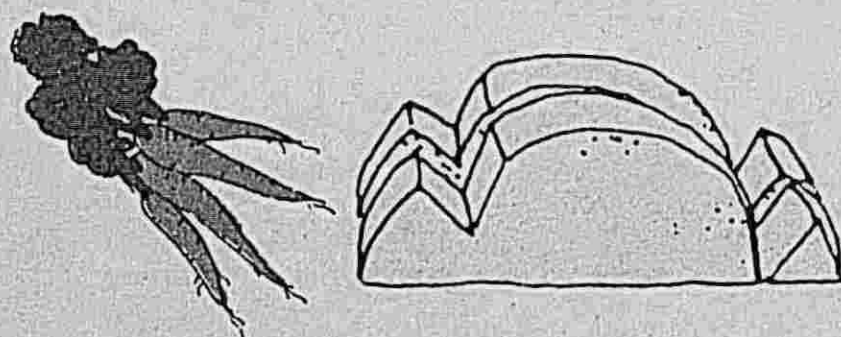

Beat butter, sugar and peel until fluffy. Beat in eggs and stir in the carrots. Mix flour with baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and nuts; stir into butter mixture. Pour into a buttered, floured 9-inch cake pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven until cake is firm in center when lightly pressed, about 25 minutes. Set on rack 15 minutes, then invert cake onto rack to cool. If made ahead, cover and chill up until up the next day.

Cut cake in half crosswise. Spread 1/4 cup frosting on one piece; align second piece on top. Cut wedge for tail from the round side of the cake, about 3 inches along perimeter from cut edge, cut a wedge about 2 inches wide at the outer edge and 2 inches deep (the notch is the dip behind the bunny's head). Tilt cake upright on cut side on a plate. Set wedge at end opposite V cut.

Frost cake and pat with coconut. Add ears and eyes. Makes 8 servings Cream cheese frosting: Beat together 8 oz. cream cheese, 1/2 cup powdered sugar, 1/4 cup unflavored yogurt and 1/2 tsp. vanilla.

Easter Marinated Baked Ham

For your special Easter dinner this year, try my Marinated Baked Ham. The orange juice-and-ginger ale marinade seems to take out some of the salt and leaves the ham tender and juicy.

- |  |                                   |
|--|-----------------------------------|
| 1 (8-lb.) smoked fully cooked ham half | 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar |
| 2 cups orange juice                    | 1/4 cup orange marmalade          |
| 2 cups ginger ale                      | 1 tsp. dry mustard                |

Place ham in a large roasting bag; pour orange juice and ginger ale over ham. Tie bag tightly. Place ham in a large bowl, and refrigerate 8 hours, turning occasionally.

Remove ham from marinade, reserving marinade. Place ham on a rack in a shallow roasting pan; insert meat thermometer, making sure it does not touch fat or bone. Bake at 325 degrees for 2-1/2 hours; baste occasionally with marinade.

Remove ham from oven; remove skin. Score fat on ham in a diamond design, if desired. Combine brown sugar, marmalade and mustard; mix well. Coat exposed portion of ham with sugar mixture. Bake, uncovered, an additional 30 minutes or until meat thermometer registers 140 degrees. Place ham on platter.

Makes 16 servings

Eggs Embellished with Tissue Paper

Paper flowers, stars and other designs cover blown-out eggs to nestle in a basket on Easter morning.

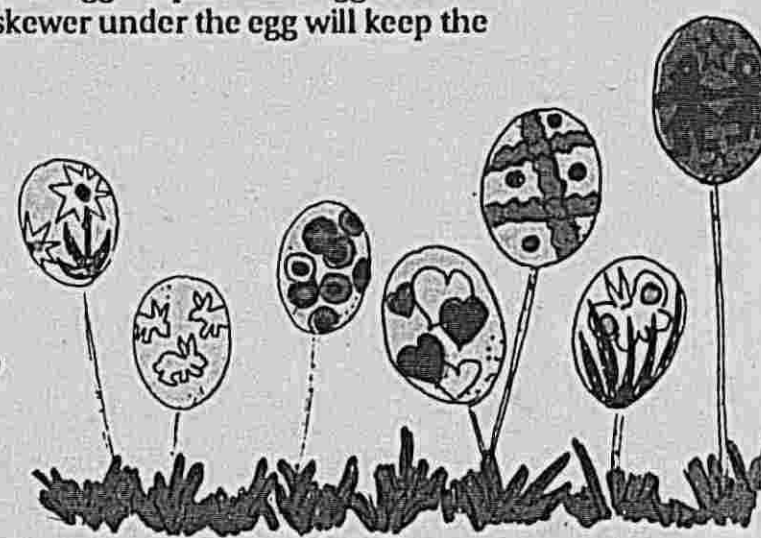

You'll need:

- colored tissue paper
- white glue
- scissors
- small, flat brush for applying glue
- bamboo skewers to hold egg for decorating

With a sharp object, poke holes in the ends of each egg and blow insides into a bowl. (You can refrigerate contents in a covered bowl up to two days). Run tap water through the holes to clean the inside; shake out excess water. Allow eggs to dry overnight.

To decorate, fold and cut out tissue paper designs, or tear strips of tissue in different colors to overlap on the egg. Impale each egg on a bamboo skewer (a paper clip on the skewer under the egg will keep the egg from slipping), and paint a thin coat of white glue around entire egg. Allow glue to dry until just sticky to touch. Decorate egg as desired. Coat with more glue.

Some colors of tissue paper, especially greens and turquoise blue, run when coated with glue. But the bleeding colors soften paper edges to give the designs a delicate, water-color like appearance. Remove the wooden skewers, place in a basket and enjoy!

Once is not enough when treating decks

The results of a consumer survey indicates decks are an investment few people properly protect.

Of the survey respondents who owned a deck, equal numbers (about 25 percent each) either knew they should treat their decks, but never got around to it; had never treated their decks; or had treated their decks with a wood preservative.

The average cost of a new deck is $3,000. Leave it unprotected, and your deck will look old and weathered in just a year. And maintaining that deck can cost as little as $50 or $60 a year states DAP Inc., makers of wood preservatives and water repellents and sponsors of this survey.

Consumers in the survey realized there are two types of products available for treating decks: preservatives that protect it from ultra-violet light, insects, and decay, and water repellents that protect the wood from mold and mildew.

While most survey respondents, nearly 69 percent, said they knew they should use a product containing both a wood preservative and a water repellent on their decks, they disagreed about how often to reapply these products.

More than half said you should retreat a deck every two to three years; more than one-third suggested annually; but barely more than five percent said each spring and fall.

Because water repellents wear off quickly, the lonely five percent group generally is right. Several factors including foot traffic, weather conditions, exposure to water from frequent plant watering or a hot tub, and what product you originally used to protect your deck all affect how long your treatment will last.

If you first treat your deck with a combined wood preservative and water repellent, you can re-treat it once or twice a year with a water repellent only. If you start to see some signs of mold and mildew, probably after four or five years, you'll need to reapply the wood preservative with water repellent.

Re-treating your deck is easy unless you stained it with a standard house stain. The stain won't protect the deck from insects, decay or even mold and mildew, and prevents a wood preservative or water repellent from penetrating the surface. You'll have to remove the stain by sanding, then give the deck a good cleaning and treat it with a wood preservative/water repellent product.

There are semi-transparent stains that contain both a wood preservative and water repellent. You may notice a weathering of the color of these stains, which merely indicates the water repellent is wearing off.

Depending upon how much you use the deck, you may need to reapply a coat of stain every 18 to 24 months, especially in areas subject to a lot of foot traffic. You don't have to remove the old stain, just apply another coat of stain right on top of it.

To determine if your water repellent is wearing off, sprinkle water on your deck on a dry day. If it beads up like rain on a waxed car, it's fine. If not, re-treat it.

Decorating

by Mary
Leben

Q: A bathroom in our new house is awful. Ugly tile, a worn out wood vanity and a gold toilet. Should I seal off the room, or tear it all out, or start over?

A: Put away the sledgehammer. Upgrades can be made easily. If your tile isn't falling off or cracked you could lay new tile over it. If the room isn't very big - the cost may not be too unbearable - so replace it.

Without repositioning fixtures or moving plumbing lines a pro can easily replace the toilet or vanity. If storage is not a priority try the clean lines of a pedestal sink. You can also change the character of a room by changing the light fixtures and towel bars. If they've always been chrome, try brass or a colored ceramic.

Perhaps a framed mirror or wall mirror instead of a medicine chest.

Q: My children's room needs help. I want to add color and make them lively but without spending a lot of money. Have you got any ideas?

A: It seems that children grow and change in the blink of an eye. That's why it's important to give your child a room he or she will always remember.

To keep it simple and long lasting, consider painting the room and adding a whimsical wall-paper border. Borders can be easily changed as your child grows from tot to teen. If you prefer to give your child a more elaborated look then the sky's the limit. Perhaps you'll create a circus environment by tenting fabric from the ceiling or maybe a jungle look with wild animal prints or an animal mural on one wall.

Combine chalkboard and corkboard squares on the wall. This allows the child to draw on the walls and the corkboard can display precious artwork. The most important aspect of decorating a child's room is to get the children involved. They'll be happier if they have been a part of the decorating process.

Q: We're selling our home and it needs a lot of help. The decorating is outdated now, but I don't want to redecorate for someone else. Any ideas to help my sale go smooth?

A: Selling your home can be exciting, fun, and scary all rolled into one. Begin by taking an objective tour of your home. Let's start at the front door. Here's your homes one and only chance to make a great first impression. What does your home say to you? Is it warm, inviting and well lit?

Now walk through your home and look for the following details.

Is there too much furniture or clutter in your rooms? Less is better. If the colors are dated, try a slip cover for a temporary face lift. How is your lighting? The room should be well lit, at least three light sources. Lighter and brighter are the key words for a cheery environment. Do the rooms need an update? Sometimes the minor cost of painting or updating wallcovering can make a dramatic difference. In some cases replacing carpet is necessary.

If after taking your home tour, you still feel you need help, ask your real estate agent to help you evaluate your home.

You can install this storage tower in an unused corner of your bedroom, or anywhere else you have a mere 18 inches of floor space. And despite its small dimensions, the tower will handle a dresser full of sweaters, scarves, socks, blankets -- even shoes.

lumber, is 7 ft. high and has eight shelves measuring 17 in. wide by 9-1/4 in. deep. (The size is adjustable, depending on your ceiling height. You can also use 1x12 lumber, instead of 1x10, thus making the shelves 11-1/4 in. deep).

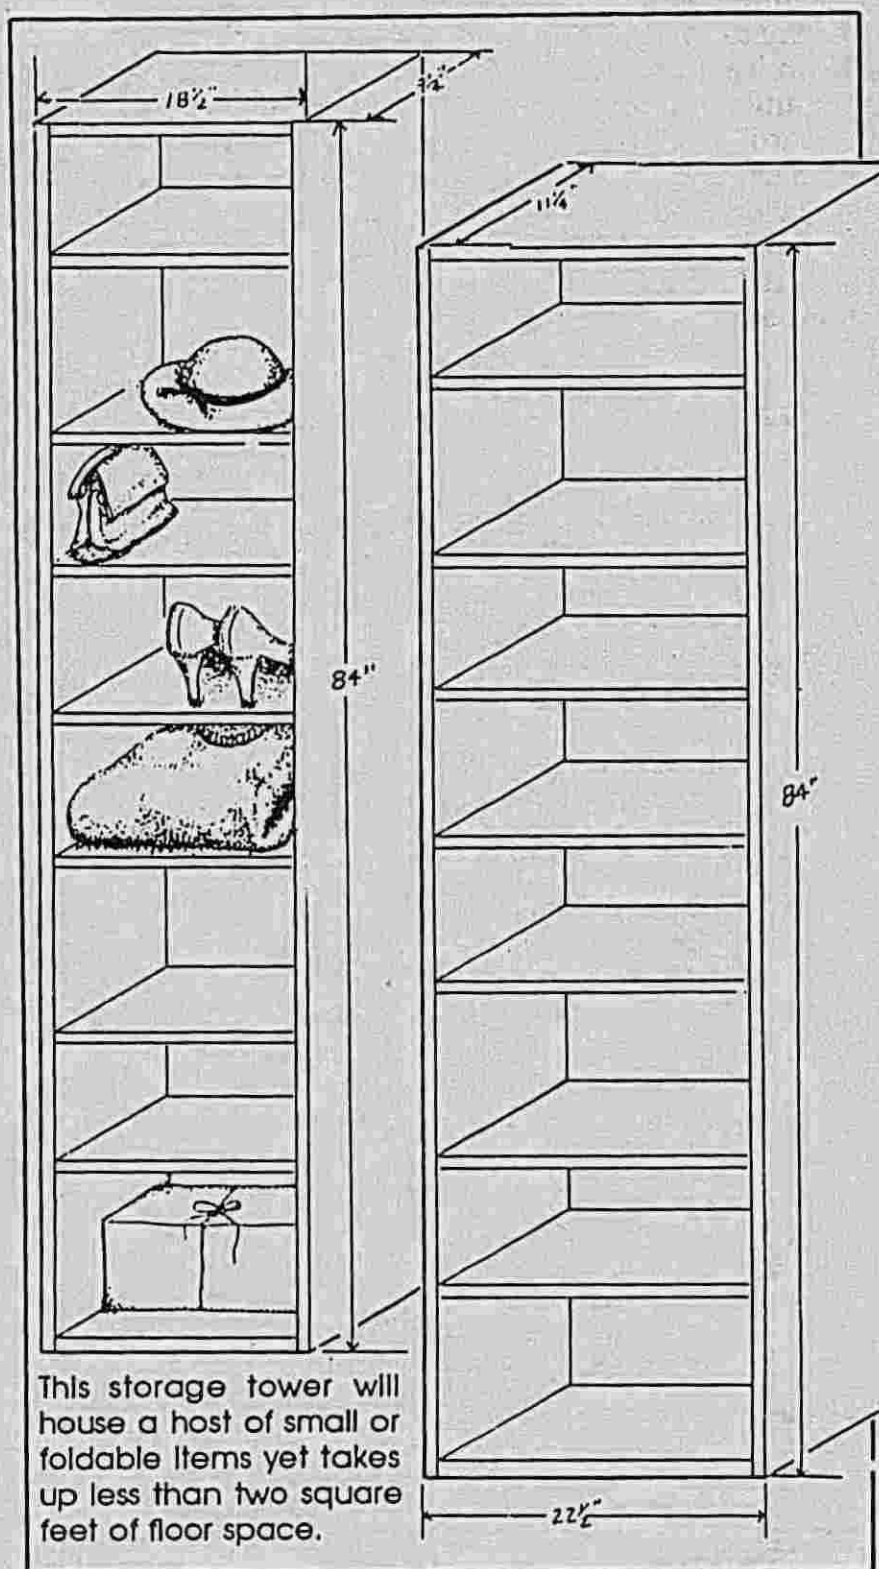

saw, a hammer and 41 lineal feet of 1x10 western softwood lumber. You'll find that western lumber is exceptionally easy to work with. It cuts smoothly with either hand or power tools and finishes nicely with little or no sanding.

ft. long. Cut the remaining lumber into nine lengths, each 17 in. long. This will give you seven shelves, plus the top and bottom pieces. The shelves shown in the illustration are spaced from 9 in. to 12 in. apart to allow for items of different sizes.

The shelves can be made adjustable by installing a pair of metal standards with shelf clips on each side. (If you use this method, cut 1/2 in. off the length of each shelf to accommodate the standard.) Or you can mount the shelves permanently by nailing through the sides and back and into the shelves with 3-in. finish nails. Still another shelf-installation option is to nail 1x1 cleats under the shelves for support.

To assemble the unit, nail the top and bottom pieces in place between the sides, then attach the two 1x10s to the back, nailing them at the top, bottom and sides.

After sanding lightly, apply a coat of paint or varnish to protect the wood from dust and moisture. After the unit is in place, drive two or three nails through the back of the unit into a wall stud, top and bottom, to ensure stability.

Homeowners reminded to call JULIE before digging

With the arrival of spring comes the beginning of the new dig season. If you're a homeowner/renter, contractor or excavator planning to build a deck, put up a fence or clothes line, plant a garden or shrubbery, build a room addition, etc. call JULIE first.

JULIE is the Illinois One-Call notification system for underground facilities. JULIE covers the entire state of Illinois except the City of Chicago, which is covered by DIG-GER.

JULIE provides contractors, excavators, homeowners and others who plan to dig, with a toll-free telephone number to call for the locating and marking of underground facilities. By calling JULIE at 1(800)892-0123 at least two working days before you dig, you can avoid damaging vital underground services. When damaged, these services can endanger property and public safety—they can also be expensive and time consuming to repair. A representative from the appropriate JULIE member company will respond to the area where the digging will occur and mark the location of any underground facilities.

Since July 1, 1991, Illinois law requires all persons digging to call JULIE two working days prior to excavation.

A free service that operates 24-hours a day, seven days a week, a person calling JULIE simply gives the necessary information to an operator: county/city or county/township (tier and range, section number/quarter section number); name and phone number; location/extent of the excavation;

description the excavation; and date work will begin. A representative from the appropriate

JULIE member company will respond to the area where the digging will occur and mark the location of any underground facility.

Members in JULIE include general utility companies, municipalities, cable television companies, pipeline companies and sewer/water companies.

JULIE is a non-profit organization that has been in existence since 1974. Today, JULIE is the largest One-Call system in the United States, with 562.

Turn spring cleaning into spring organizing

Clutter: It's an annoyance in most households, and a major problem in many. It can cause you to spend valuable time searching for necessities, make you late for work or appointments, or just make your home look and feel out of control, no matter how clean it may be. Believe it or not, you can eliminate clutter—and regain control of your home—with a few simple steps recommended by professional organizer, Tom Nevermann.

First here's a quiz to help you figure out if you are, in fact, disorganized:

- Do things fall out of closets or cabinets when you open them?
- Do things get all wrinkled because they're jammed into closets or drawers?
- Do you often spend more time looking for an item than you do using that item?
- Does it take longer than five minutes to locate anything?
- Do you have a lot of unnecessary duplicate items?
- Are things stacked on every available flat surface?
- Are you embarrassed to let people see inside your home?

If you answered yes to one or more of these questions, the experts say, you need more than a spring cleaning—you need to get organized!

The first step to better home organization is one that many of us normally take in our traditional spring cleaning routine, go through the entire house and start throwing things out. If you haven't worn or used an item for at least one full year, that's a pretty good indicator that it's unnecessary baggage.

Having disposed of excess items, you're ready to organize what's left.

Start by asking yourself what frustrates you the most, what wastes the most of your time and what it is you wish you had more time to do. The answers to those questions would point you straight to the areas that need organizing first.

Closets

For many people, closets are a real problem. Three tips are to get rid of wire hangers (they can damage clothes), buy and use a shoe rack, and use racks for ties, belts, and other accessories.

Removing seasonal items such as sweaters can help as well. These can be stored in a large plastic storage container with a tight-fitting lids that keeps our dirt and moisture.

Living room

Moving into the living room presents another common problem, what to do with all those newspapers and magazines. The professionals' advice is to get rid of them all. If there's a magazine article you hope to read "someday," you'll have no trouble at all finding it at the local library. If there's an article you absolutely must save, clip it out and toss the rest of the magazine. Don't forget to recycle all the paper that you can.

Kitchens

Kitchen organizing presents some unique problems as well not only do things need to be stored but they need to be visible and accessible, often on a daily basis. If there are items in the kitchen that only get used once or twice a year, get them out of the kitchen.

One of the toughest problems is storing leftover food. The best system for food storage is a modular kitchen storage system, with containers that nest and stack with tight fitting lids.

Bathroom

In the bathroom, you can borrow a trick long used in the kitchens. A lazy Susan or slide-out bin under the sink can help you effectively use those storage spaces that normally seem impossible to reach. Above the sink, in the medicine cabinet, you can alleviate a great deal of morning stress by eliminating items that you don't use everyday. And if storage space is limited, a set of free standing shelves behind and above the toilet tank can add valuable space.

All this organizing may sound overwhelming, but according to Nevermann, it doesn't have to be. He claims the cost of staying disorganized is more frightening, wasting years of your life searching for things misplaced in your own home. It's not going to happen overnight, but if you can set aside 30 minutes or even 10 minutes every day to work on organizing and tackle just one area at a time, eventually it will come together.

Wrap around deck special feature for Astral 2

The distinguishing feature of the Astral 2 is its hexagonal great room, with oversized windows. The vaulted great room includes the front entry, living room, dining room, and kitchen. At the exact center, a woodstove stands on a six-sided hearth that repeats the shape of the room and provides a natural focal point.

The Astral 2 includes lots of sensible conveniences. A wood storage area is adjacent to the woodstove and a large, walk-in pantry is adjacent to the kitchen. The oversized utility room has a door leading to the garage, so family members can drop off dirty shoes and dripping umbrellas before entering the main part of the house.

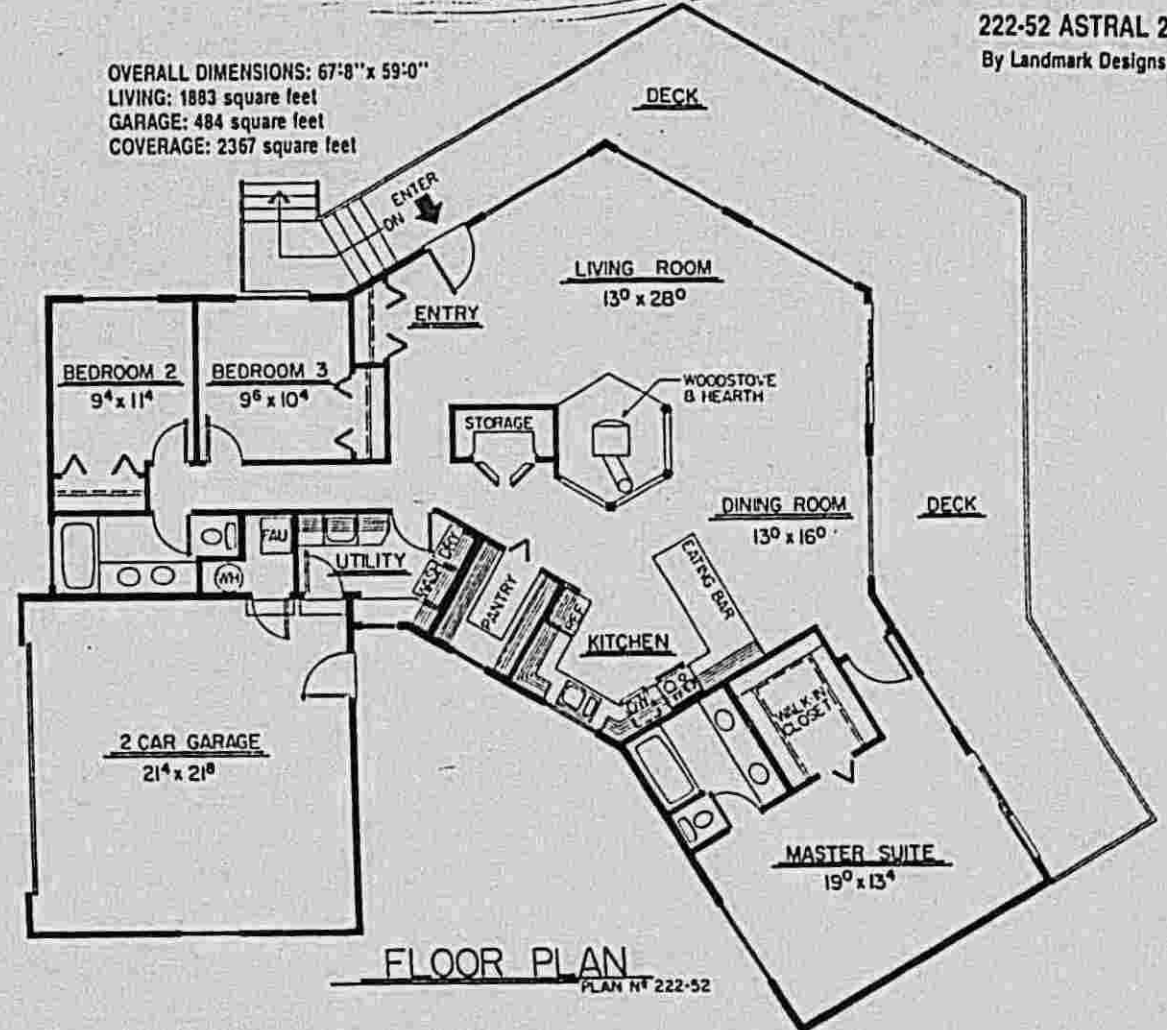

The master suite is on the opposite side of the house from the two smaller bedrooms, offering privacy and quiet. This area includes a huge walk-in closet and bathroom with double vanities. Sliding doors lead to an extensive deck that also wraps around three sides of the hexagonal great room. For a study plan of the Astral 2, write to Landmark Designs, P. O. Box 2307, Eugene, Oregon 97402. Ask for plan No. 222-52.

Buyer's guide to riding mowers, lawn tractors

These days, you needn't own an estate to use a riding lawnmower or lawn tractor. Many new features and models are now designed just for suburban homeowners with larger lots.

A riding mower is designed exclusively for mowing grass, with the engine mounted in the rear. Typically, riding mowers are less expensive than lawn tractors, which are more versatile, durable, and comfortable. Just like on the farm, lawn tractors always have front-mounted engines.

The smallest-recommended lot size for a rider or lawn tractor used to be one-half acre. However, in recent years, more and more homeowners with small suburban lots have begun to maintain their property with riding mowers. Typically, these are small riders with engines in the five to seven horsepower range, which can easily negotiate backyard obstacles and narrow spaces, and can also be stored upright in a garage.

Prime candidates for small-size riders or tractors include senior citizens, persons with health problems, women and men who lead sedentary lives, and single homeowners. If your property is one-half acre or larger, you should consider a rider or lawn tractor with an eight horsepower or bigger engine. However, if you've only used walk mowers before, be aware that riders and tractors are big and heavy, so you can't just toss one in the trunk for maintenance or repairs.

Take time to try the model's features and sit on it to gauge comfort. A top-of-the-line tractor with a 44-inch cutting deck can mow more than two acres of grass per hour, but your needs may not require that kind of performance. A popular rider size is an eight horsepower model with a 32-inch deck, can mow up to 1.5 acres per hour, while one of the smallest riders available, a seven horsepower model with a 25-inch deck, mows up to one acre per hour.

When you first examine a rider or tractor, try the controls: are they easily accessed, in a central location, and easy to use? Is the throttle right at hand, rather than buried under the dash or a long stretch away? Also, are there separate clutch and brake pedals for operator ease, and is there a parking brake so the unit can be stopped safely on an incline? What type of starting system is there? Engine choices

Horsepower: A larger engine, above eight horsepower, makes most sense for a multi-acre lot; a smaller engine will strain and wear out more quickly under excessive mowing conditions. The same is true if your property is hilly. A larger engine will handle the up and down strain, while the smaller engine will provide a rough ride and be less efficient.

Engine smoothness: Engine vibration is a crucial consideration. The larger, high-output models should have a "counter-balanced" engine to reduce vibration and create a more pleasant ride. Counter-balancing also extends the life of the engine and the unit's structural integrity.

Powertrain lubrication: Make sure the transmission and gears are permanently lubricated to cut-down on maintenance worries.

Transmissions: Riders generally feature a transmission/differential system, while tractors more commonly have a transaxle, in which both differential and transmission are in one sealed housing.

Gears: The number of gears is critical to control and mowing quality. The better riders and tractors have a five gear transmission that allows the operator to precisely match ground speed to mowing conditions. Ease of gear selection and throttle control is also important. Consider how quickly and easily you can change gears, and whether the throttle is in a convenient position relative to the gear shift lever.

How is it built?

To examine the construction, look for a good paint finish that evenly covers all metal surfaces; secure, solid welding or fittings at all junctures; and no sharp, protruding metal edges.

Look for a unibody frame, the most durable type. This full-length design anchors all components, providing consistent strength and integrity of construction. Take a close look at component quality and accessibility.

Steering test

Most riders and tractors have either an automotive-type steering wheel or bicycle-type handlebars. The steering wheel is more comfortable and offers more solid control and ease of steering over rough terrain.

Rack and pinion steering is a state-of-the-art system offered on some models. It provides better control and durability than other options. A five-to-one steering ratio, standard on some models, is like a car's power steering; it requires only one-fifth of the normal turning effort, and transfers only one-fifth of any shocks from ground resistance or obstacles back to the driver's hands. Also, look for "adjustable tie rods" within the steering system; they are a key to consistently accurate steering and control.

Wide pneumatic rubber tires provide a smoother mowing ride than narrow tires and also have less "tracking" effect on the grass. Tracking occurs when the grass pushed down by the tires doesn't quickly bounce back up. A rider or tractor leaving excessive tracking will also deliver a ragged cut, because the mower's vacuuming force may not be strong enough to pull up the grass for a clean cut.

Safety

The most important

safety features to look for in a rider or tractor are: a blade clutch/stopping system that quickly stops the blade when the operator disengages it; an "interlock" starting system that prevents the engine from being started except when the model is in neutral and the cutting deck is disengaged; and a "deadman" switch connected to the seat or other system that both stops the blade and immediately stops the engine if the operator leaves or falls from his seat.

Cutting quality

Cutting quality is determined by both the actual blade and the cutting deck system. A good cutting blade will be made of tempered steel, be slightly angled to provide good lifting action, and will not vibrate under any circumstances. If the blade is doing its job, all grass blades will be pulled up straight for a clean cut.

Comfort

Hours at a time on either type of mower can be wearing, and there are subtle and not-so-subtle comfort differences between various models and between riders and tractors in general.

Screening creates a summer living room easily

When school's out for the summer, the home can grow too small for all the family hubbub, and air-conditioning bills soar. The answer to these problems often lies, overlooked, just outside the front door - a little-used porch that can become a breezy, private oasis with the simple addition of screening.

After decades of neglect, screened porches are enjoying a massive revival, says the Screen Manufacturers Assn. (SMA).

Spurring the comeback are the savings generated by using Mother Nature's air cooling instead of the utility company's, and the need to find more living space when larger homes are unaffordable in today's market. Another incentive is the do-it-yourself convenience of modern materials such as inexpensive, easy-to-handle screening that stands up to year-round weathering.

Multi-purpose space

One pleasure rediscovered on the screened porch is outdoor dining, rescued from the insect-besieged patio. Busy mothers are finding that porch screening can create a safe, protected area for children's active play, rain or shine.

Most of all, families are realizing that screening provides the subtle psychological privacy that makes for a relaxing retreat.

Carefree coverage

Do-it-yourselfers have several screening options to choose from today. The first is woven fiberglass screening, which offers several advantages. Fiberglass will not curl or stretch while you work with it, nor will the tough, vinyl-coated mesh dent, corrode or rust. The most popular colors are silver gray and charcoal.

Aluminum screening is resilient and rustproof and comes in three colors - bright (natural) aluminum, charcoal and new black. In the past, bright aluminum has been the preferred screening, but charcoal and black finishes are becoming increasingly popular. Charcoal offers good outward visibility, while black provides the best possible view to the outside.

Screening methods

All-weather durability is a very important factor for the do-it-yourselfer when choosing screening because, most often, screening is installed for permanent, longtime use. On a roofed open porch with corner pillars, screening can simply be wrapped around the porch up to the screen door opening. In such cases, it is only necessary to insert 2x4 wood strips along the floor and ceiling, then 2x4 vertical supports at intervals and finally, a horizontal rub rail at chairback height.

Screening is then unrolled horizontally and stapled into place, and wooden strips are glued to cover staple rows around edges and at the chair-rail bar.

Screening can be applied vertically on the same kind of framework, and is a little easier to handle. Even when a porch has a waist-high brick or wood railing, often it is easier to screen with such a framework outside the existing railing. When porch floors are masonry, a carbide-tipped masonry drill bit and non-rusting screws in lead sleeves are needed to affix the wood base strip; otherwise, the procedure is the same.

In all screening jobs, permanent or temporary, vertical studs should be placed to allow installation of standard-size screen doors.

Removable screening

Building removable screens takes more time and carpentry, but is well within the skill level of amateur wood workers. With careful measurements in hand, a home handyman can get guidance and materials to construct frames and screen them. And, of course, replacing worn-out screens requires only taking existing frames to a retailer.

Protect patio furniture

Patio furniture made of vinyl and plastics can be severely damaged by the effects of harsh ultraviolet rays, ozone, severe temperature changes, and normal wear and tear. A quality vinyl protectant should be your first line of defense against these corrosive agents.

Protectants shield your furniture from ultraviolet light and also lubricate the surface, preventing fading, cracking and hardening. It is imperative that you purchase your protectant selectively. You should look for a protectant designed to go far beyond a mere surface treatment—it should penetrate porous vinyl and rubber surfaces and carry the protecting chemicals deep within the material being treated.

Protect outdoor furniture and maintain its original look.

Woodworking contests offers $5,000

The fourth annual Build-a-Box contest offers three top prizes of $1,000 each, three more worth $500 a piece, and 10 $50 merit awards. The awards total $5,000. All entrants will receive a Certificate of Appreciation.

The contest is co-sponsored every year by Workbench, a do-it-yourself magazine, and Western Wood Products Assn., the world's largest lumber trade association.

The Build-a-Box competition takes its name from the contest's central idea i.e., building a box and then making something interesting out of it. The two box sizes mandated by the contest are 24-inch by 9 1/2-inches, and 24-inches by 28 1/2-inches (the depth is up to the entrant). They are to be built of 3/4-inch pine, spruce, fir or larch. Quarter-inch plywood or hardwood can be used for drawer bottoms, cabinet backs and other surfaces that normally call for thin sheet material. One or both size boxes can be used in a project, and as many as needed can be used.

The projects themselves can be functional or purely decorative, fitted with doors or drawers, painted, stained, carved or covered with fabric. Past winners have included a chip-carved toy box, a wren house, a set of bedroom furniture, a chair, toy bus, toy truck, a backyard sculpture, sewing box, and even a paddle boat.

Entries, only photos, not the projects themselves, must be accompanied by a drawing of the project with all dimensions clearly marked. A working shop drawing is acceptable. The photos of the completed project which must accompany each entry can be color or black-and-white, and can be slides or prints or Polaroids.

The contest sponsors also request that entrants write a little about their projects, what materials were used, how long it took to build, what kind of finish was applied, and what the box project is to be used for. Finally, each entry must be accompanied by signed certification that the project is the entrant's own design, and the he/she built it.

Deadline for entries is May 1. They are to be mailed to Build-a-Box Contest, Workbench Magazine, KC Publishing, 4251 Pennsylvania Ave., Kansas City, MO 64111.

My family lives so far away....

When we live at a great distance from those we love we can help them and get peace of mind for ourselves by planning our funeral ahead of time. They will then be relieved of many concerns at the time of the funeral. Your family, however, should be included in your planning so that they are aware of and in agreement with your wishes.

When you and they agree let us record your plans and help you make needed arrangements. There is never any obligation for discussing these matters with us. Contact us for our free booklet on funeral planning.

SWALCO activates first county recycling program

by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ
Lakeland Newspapers

The first intergovernmental recycling effort in Lake County is in place and will see action beginning April 7.

DonTech Corporation will distribute about 134,000 phone books in northern Lake County this month. With help from the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County, the company will collect outdated directories for recycling.

Nine drop-off sites have been established. Collection will begin April 7 and end May 8. All sites are open between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily unless otherwise noted. The locations are:

Antioch: Antioch Public Works
796 Holbeck Drive
Green Oaks: Oak Grove School
1700 O'Plaine Road

Grayslake: Police Station
Whitney and Hawley streets
Gurnee: Gurnee Public Works
1511 Kilbourne Road
Libertyville Township:
Main office
337 Merrill Court (east visitor's lot)
Lindenhurst: Village Hall
2301 Sandlake Road
Round Lake Beach: Public Works
224 W. Clarendon
Libertyville: The Lambs Farm
Route 176 east of Interstate 294
Waukegan: Public Works
1700 McAree Road (Village residents only, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.)

Last year's effort was limited to Libertyville Township and Waukegan. The 1991 recycling drive netted 17,500 pounds of old phone books which saved about 26 yards of landfill space. SWALCO hopes to collect 80,000 pounds of material this year.

Containers and transportation of recyclables have been provided by Jensen Disposal of Gurnee; North Shore Waste Control of Lake Bluff; and Waste Management of Antioch.

More than 17,000 pulp trees are necessary to produce the 200,000 pounds of paper required to make the phone books for the region. "It is now necessary for companies to take responsibility for non-durable items which they produce," said Mark Loughmiller, SWALCO recycling coordinator. "The DonTech Corporation is taking that responsibility by accepting old phone books and marketing the recovered paper," he said.

The cooperative recycling program is among several goals the agency last year hired Loughmiller to achieve.

Adult day care program changes name

Waukegan Adult Day Health Services (WADHS) has officially changed its name to Victory Adult Day Center (VADC). Sandy Cech, director of VADC, said, "The new name better describes the services provided at the facility as well as our affiliation with Victory Memorial Hospital. Since the program itself is a relatively new health care option sandy feels keeping the name simple, enables people to better understand the services being offered to them."

Services provided at the Victory Adult Day Center include, adult day care, personal hygiene/bathing and stroke rehabilitation. The purpose of adult day care is to maintain, restore, and/or rehabilitate older adults through stimulating daily activities, health supervision and a nurturing environment. The bath program provides a comfortable, convenient, safe way to bathe. The co-op stroke exercise program, combines medical expertise and exercise/fitness. For additional information call (708)360-9860.

Training center for handicapped completed at Lambs Farm

Construction has been completed and occupancy taken on the 25,000 square foot Founders Building at Lambs Farm, a vocational training and recreational center for mentally handicapped adult residents in Libertyville.

Built by Ruskin Lack General Contractor, Inc., of Mundelein, an authorized Varco-Pruden Building contractor, this structure achieves its handsome appearance from its red brick facade with brick-enclosed columns at the front elevation, carrying out a Colonial architectural motif to make it compatible with other building on the 63 acre campus.

The building includes 8,000 square feet of administrative offices and 8,250 square foot gymnasium with a regulation basketball court used in the residents' athletic programs. The gymnasium is surrounded by 12 craft rooms where residents are taught the fundamental skills of caring for themselves.

A 66'-6" clearspan rigid frame was utilized as the structural support of the gymnasium area in combination with unibeam lean-to frames flanking either side of the recreational area. Heavy gage metal stud exterior walls are covered in brick with a 2' frieze that runs full perimeter of the building.

A Varco-pruden standing seam roof was specified for the recreational area of the structure, with a 9:12 pitch VP Panel Rib roofing system overlaid with asphalt shingles on other areas of the structure. This highly visible roof area matches existing campus buildings. Six inch vinyl-backed fiberglass insulation was utilized in both roof and walls (R-19) for thermal efficiency. Roof pitch on the standing seam roof area is 1/2:112. Eave height is 21'.

Ruskin Lack General Contractor served as the prime contractor on the project.

The original design of the center was handled by R. Donald Johnson, Architects, of Chicago. However the building was converted to a pre-engineered concept by Dan Robison of Daniel Robison Architects of Gurnee. Lambs Farm has 150 on-campus residents and 30 day training participants who are taught how to make jams, jellies, preserves and chocolates, among other products, which are manufactured and marketed at Lambs Farm. facilities at Lambs Farm include a restaurant, pet shop, country store, bakery, a mini golf course, a snack shop, a children's petting zoo, a miniature train, and other attractions for the 3000,000 people who visit the farm each year.

FOOT FACTS From The FOOT DOCTOR

Dr. Griff J. Winters & Assoc.
Specializing in Reconstructive Foot & Ankle Surgery

PLANTAR WARTS

Warts are caused by a virus infection and are often mistaken as corns and calluses. Warts on the bottom of the foot penetrate deep under the skin like a mushroom, because of pressure in standing. Unlike corns and calluses, the center encapsulated area usually has rust-colored spots that are small blood vessels and nerves that supply the wart. For this reason warts are more painful with side to side pinching.

Warts are contagious to susceptible people and are usually found in adolescents. If the plantar wart is small and discovered early, prescribed chemical agents often times are all that are needed. For large or resistant warts, we often time use Laser surgery that gives good results with minimal discomfort. This is done on an out-patient basis and the patient loses no time off this feet.

If you have the above symptoms or any other foot discomfort, you may contact Dr. Winters for a NO COST CONSULTATION to see if there may be an answer to your foot pain.

Something for everyone as prep baseball returns

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

It did stop snowing long enough for the baseball season to get started last week.

The weather was even bearable for the first week of non-conference games as teams used those contests to experiment with lineups. The county has already seen a no hitter (by James Cuellar of Lake Zurich), a team victimized by a no-hitter (Antioch) pitchers hitting home runs and some blowouts.

The temperatures were in the mild 60's Monday as in-person baseball started at Round Lake.

Let's see: where's the lawn chair? There's the shovel, the boots and other assorted winter gear in the trunk. And ah, there's the chair — last used in suburban Kansas City in August. Warren (7-1) picked off where it had began down south in a 14-2 romp over the previously unbeaten Panthers, made up of many of the Colt players who had earned that trip to the national Colt tournament.

Libertyville, as usual, has played the most games while Warren has benefitted from a seven-game swing through southern Illinois.

Libertyville won five of their first six before dropping a doubleheader Saturday to Deerfield, 5-4 in eight innings and 12-2 in six innings.

"We did a nice job in the first game as Deerfield walked 12 batters, but we could not capitalize on the opportunities," Coach Jim Panther said of his 5-3 team.

The Wildcats swept Palatine and Grant to start the season. Zac Adams picked up the win in a 3-0 shutout of the Pirates and John DeJoris was the winner in a 19-6 pasting. Dave Bernstein picked up the win in a 5-4 victory over Grant. Sophomore Jamie Carruthers showed talent with the bat and on the mound as he gained the 'W' in a 11-3 victory.

Adams is Libertyville's top hitter in the early going at .500, four for eight. Matt Beitzel is hitting .417, 10-for-24 and leads the team with 10 RBIs.

He's safe!

"Other than that, hitting has been spotty," Panther said.

The Wildcats, who are at Niles North April 11, are seeking to solidify the pitching. "In eight games, we have used 11 pitchers. Adams has the most work with 14 innings. No one else is over seven. We're walking too many hitters," Panther said.

Lake Zurich's Cuellar turned in the no-hit gem in a 3-1 win over Wauconda, the Bears only victory in their first five games.

The Bears unveiled their new field April 9. Lake Zurich hosts Mundelein April 11.

The Bears dropped a doubleheader to Stevenson (5-1), 12-7 and 12-3. Lake Zurich begins its first Fox Valley Conference season against Crystal Lake Central April 14.

The close-but-no cigar award goes to Grant. The Bulldogs fell to Woodstock 8-5 after losing to Libertyville 5-4 for an 0-3 start. "We told the kids we could just as easily be 2-1 as 0-3," Coach Fritz Kazlauskis said.

Grant hosts Grayslake April 13 in Northwest Suburban Conference play. The Rams and Warhawks were the late starters, not opening until this week.

The Bulldogs trailed 7-0 at one point to Woodstock as the Blue Streaks scored

Experienced Patriots look to defend relays crown

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Stevenson will be out to defend its own relay title won last year when nine other Lake County track teams converge on Lincolnshire April 10.

The Pats will be fielding an experienced team trying to beat back a field which consists of: Antioch, Carmel, Grant, Round Lake, Warren, Mundelein, Niles West and Woodstock. The field events begin at 5 p.m. with the running events at 6 p.m.

"We have a number of seniors on this year's team who have been with the varsity three years," Stevenson Coach Hank Andrew said.

These include Andy Bahr in the sprints and discus, and jumper Tom Mason. Mason, a long and triple jumper, may be adding high jumping this spring.

Other seniors are: Marc Strong in the hurdles and triple jump, Tim Chin in the 800; Jonas Jocson in the triple and long jump; Nate Weber in the discus; Arthur Miles and Phil Odisho in the 800. Pole vaulters back are seniors Richard Bouchez, Derek Bower, Vic DePrizio and Todd Greenstein.

Key juniors include cross country state champ Pat Joyce. Joyce will be running in the 800 and 1,600. He had a 4:30 plus in the 1,600 last year. "There was a dramatic improvement from his freshman year to his sophomore year in terms of understanding what he is capable of doing," Andrews said.

Junior Nick Moons won the sophomore conference championship in the high jump last year. His brother, David, is a freshman on the team.

"The whole idea of the Patriot Relays in the 21 years it has been run is to run a lot of people and give a lot of people chances for medals or ribbons," Andrews said.

Mundelein Coach Dave Sibley, meanwhile, also has some key returnees back on a much smaller squad.

Glenn Schoda ran the 400, 800 and mile and was the anchor on the 1,600 meter relay team last year.

Senior Javier Ceja, who is strong in the 800 and mile, is back.

Sophomore standouts are Jeff Haug in the 800 and mile and Wade Arnold.

Arnold, a sprinter, played football and basketball on the varsity level. "He is one of the most coachable kids," Sibley said.

Sophomore Tony Ringlestein, who Sibley says is coming off a strong cross country season, is penciled in for the 800, mile and two mile.

Sibley is hopeful a new scoring system in the North Suburban Conference will mean more of chance for the Mustangs.

"You will be running the conference dual meets the same as non-conference because the conference meet will be the only thing that counts. That really makes it a lot fairer," Sibley, whose team was 0-9 in duals last year.

"Quality always comes to the top. Putting all the marbles on the conference meet means quality teams should do well," Andrews, whose team was 8-2 in duals, said.

Warren comes into the meet after scoring 104 points in an indoor meet against Lake Zurich and Grant. The Blue Devils won all but one event.

Mike Milowski, a senior, cleared 11 feet in the pole vault. Dan Clauser, a senior, won the 800 meter run and Ambre Darby won the triple jump.

Grant features Nelson Anderson in the high jump. He cleared 6-2 at Warren.

Stevenson hosts NSC foes Antioch and Lake Forest, two teams Andrews considers contenders, April 14.

Grant notches first win

Grant used homerun power from Chis Alex and some solid pitching by Randy Harris to break into the win column in a non-conference game against North Chicago.

Grant more than doubled up on the Warhawks with a 15-7 win, increasing their record to 1-3 for the new baseball season.

"Randy had four super innings," Grant Coach Fritz Kazlauskis said.

Harris had eight strikeouts against the Warhawks and gave up six hits and two walks.

Alex contributed a double as well as the home run in the 12 hit attack.

Grant spotted North Chicago a 2-0 lead, but scored five in the second and three in the third.

Shane Webb had three hits, including a double, Nick Spadaro had two hits and three RBIs, Aaron VonBruenchenheim was two-for-three with a double, RBI and three runs scored.

Richmond grad Miller makes grade with Bucs

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

One by one, the minor league hopefuls got the word at the Pittsburgh Pirates spring training facility in Florida.

No, for one reason or another, you don't fit into the Pirates' 1992 plans.

On Sunday, Paul Miller was one of those who did not get that word. Instead, he would be joining the Pirates when they faced Montreal for the season opener Monday.

"We're all very happy," Lauren Miller, Paul's Dad said.

Miller, a graduate of Richmond-Burton High, made steady progress through the Pirates minor league system. He was 7-2 last year at AA Carolina with a 2.3 ERA, then 5-2 in Buffalo for a 1.48 ERA.

Miller, age 26, also pitched in the AA All-Star game and even was called up to start a major league game against the Braves. He received a no-decision in that outing and was sent back to Buffalo.

"He is going with the same pitches. He uses a cut fastball, a slider, a changeup and a curve," Lauren Miller said.

Miller had earlier spent time with the Pirates' rookie league team in Brandon, Fla. and the highest Class A in Salem, Va.

Paul is not the only Miller to be drafted by a big-league club. Doug was drafted by the Reds but did not sign.

"We plan on seeing quite a few games; going to Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh," Lauren states.

Miller is slated for mid relief for the defending National League East champions. Miller did not see any action in the Pirates' 2-0 win over Montreal in the opener. Doug Drabek started and went eight innings. Miller's teammate in Buffalo last year, Roger Mason, pitched in relief.

The Millers do not have to wait long to see their son play close to home. Pittsburgh is at Wrigley Field for a weekend series against the Cubs April 24-26. And the Cubs are at Three Rivers Stadium next week, April 14-15.

CLC pitchers impress foes in Florida games

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Coach Gene Hanson had some fairly reasonable goals when the Lancers departed for a swing through Florida.

The Lancers a) wanted to get away from the extended winter weather and b) wanted to win as many games as they lost.

The Lancers came back with a 12-2 record, including a win over the national champion in Division III.

The pitching staff compiled some impressive stats. Jim Cooney was 3-0, Greg Weber and John Katalinich were 2-0 and Rex Eaman won two of three decisions.

"I'm really pleased. We don't have anyone who will throw on a major league team, but our pitchers challenge hitters and throw strikes," Hanson said.

The Lancers also were stingy when it came to giving up walks, only 44 for 14 games. The defense has been doing its part, too, with a dozen twinkillings in March.

Lead-off man Shawn Stanek is leading the way as the Lancers head into Skyway Conference play this week with a .491 average with 13 RBIs and 13 stolen bases. He could top last year's total in stolen bases before the mid-point of the conference race. He was 22-for-24 in thefts last year.

"Last year he was a little tentative in stealing bases. Now, he gets a base and just goes," Hanson said.

CLC is at Madison April 10 and is at McHenry at noon in Skyway action April 11.

Dan Strom, second-place hitter, hit .408 with 15 RBIs with four triples and eight stolen bases.

The third hitter, George Liebert, hit .434 with seven RBIs. "He is just now getting into gear," Hanson said.

CLC's top games on offense included a 13-inning 5-4 win over St. Petersburg in which Tim Kennedy gained the win in relief.

Weber was the winner as CLC downed Youngston State 16-14.

Cooney gained the win in a 13-3 victory over South

Maine. His best game, according to Hanson, was a 3-2 win over Manatee.

Katalinich had a one-hitter in a 17-0 win over Tampa. Eaman was the winner in a 17-0 shutout of Tampa.

Brian Garrity shutout Florida Atlantic 7-0.

Florida Atlantic downed CLC 7-6. CLC's other loss was to Manatee Junior College 3-1.

most of their runs in the first two innings, taking advantage of three Grant errors on ground balls.

Todd Mann's two-run single keyed a fifth-inning rally. Shane Webb tied the score at 7-7 with a sacrifice fly.

Libertyville got just four hits in the 5-4 win over the Bulldogs. "I thought we played pretty well but we had a couple of mistakes, and you can't afford to make mistakes against Libertyville," Kazlauskis said.

Carmel split four games in the early season, including a win against a former teammate.

Carmel, which faces Woodstock April 11, downed Lake Forest 10-4 as Matt Mockszycki had two RBIs, had two walks and two runs scored. He also had a double and a triple as the Corsairs doubled up on Stevenson, 16-8 and former CHS player Pats pitcher Scott Strube.

"He runs the bases well," Carmel Coach

Chuck Gandolfi said of Mockszycki.

The Corsairs showed their homerun power as Dan Devito and Joe Keller pegged four baggers in a 9-5 loss to Stevenson. "We expect to hit quite a few home runs," Gandolfi said.

Carmel was down 7-0 after two innings, but came to within three runs. Jeff Turnbull was the winning Patriot pitcher.

Ryan Godwin gained two saves. "He could be that role (stopper). He is overpowering," Gandolfi said.

In addition to Devito and Keller, Wauconda's Lenny Stanley showed he could hit the long one. The winning pitcher clubbed a homer in a 5-4 season-opening win over Mundelein. Steve Waldo also had a homer. Wauconda gained a 2-0 start with a 6-3 win.

Yes, there were blowouts. Antioch's bid for a fresh start was halted by Schaumburg in a 20-0 second-game win despite getting just six hits. Antioch was no-hit, besides.

And they're off

Runners seek a good start in last year's Chicago Medical School run. The 11th annual 10K (6.2 mile) run will be April 25 at 9:30 a.m. Trophies will be awarded in five age categories for the first three runners. All runners will receive t-shirts. Race begins at 3333 Green Bay Rd., North Chicago. For pre-registration or same day registration information and other details, call (708) 689-2526 or (708) 473-4526.

Stasieks combine talents for Carmel track squad

Carmel's boys track and field team will be featuring a brother act with the senior already breaking a record in the indoor season.

Distance ace Matt Stasiek returns for another season for the Corsairs coming off a state qualifying season in 1991. He broke the indoor record for the two mile by 13 seconds at a meet at St. Joseph.

His younger brother, Dan, a basketball and soccer player, is also running distance events.

"It is hard to figure because we have a lot of talented young kids. I don't think I will know for sure for another month," Carmel Coach Jim Halford said.

The Corsairs are preparing for the Stevenson Relays April 10. The Corsairs will be one of 10 teams at Stevenson, with field events beginning at 5 p.m. and running at 6 p.m.

Chicago Medical School plans for annual footrace

University of Health Sciences/ The Chicago Medical School announced that its 11th annual Fitness Footrace will be held on Saturday, April 25. The race, which is co-sponsored by various local businesses will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The event, traditionally a freshman class project sponsored in conjunction with the Student Council, attempts to bring together all segments of the local and Lake County Community in a fun-filled day which includes a picnic, musical entertainment and community fitness.

According to Robert Bilkovski, freshman class president at CMS and coordinator of they year's race, the timing of it—just one day prior to the Lake County Marathon—serves as an ideal final tune-up for many of those how enter that event. He indicated that prized will be awarded in five different male and female age divisions, including trophies for first, second and third place finishers. All participants and staff will receive a specially designed t-shirt for their involvement. Bilkovski says that he hopes to draw a record number of runners. The race course, encompasses Rte. 137 and passes by the VA Hospital, winding around into North Chicago and Lake Bluff.

Fee for pre-registrants is $10 prior to April 22, and $12 thereafter including the day of the race. Pre-registration is encouraged and Bilkovski says that entry forms can be obtained through the Office of Student Affairs at the Chicago Medical School, 333 Green Bay Rd., North Chicago, 60064, or by calling (708)689-2526. Pre-registrants can also write to UHS/CMS Fitness Footrace, Box 73, at the school address. "This is intended to be a family-oriented event," says

Bilkovski, "designed to emphasize the importance of community goodwill. Age divisions will include male and female, 18 and under; 19 to 29; 30 to 39; 40 to 49; and 50 and above."

MHS gymnasts hope tradition continues

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Mundelein High's gymnastics team started the Foerch Invitational shooting for 140 points and a level which, if they kept it up, would assure them of qualifying for the state meet.

The 140 points score still remains something to be grasped at, but Mundelein still had plenty of positives as the Mustangs finished second at Niles West Saturday.

"We were shooting for 140 points, and we were without Jason Shepard and we had a bad meet. Our next goal is to get 140 points over the next two weeks. If we do that, there is a 99 percent chance we will make it to the state meet," Mundelein Coach Doug Foerch said.

The Mustangs had 135.4 points, second to champion Naperville North with 139 in Skokie on Saturday.

Mundelein hosts its own Wayne Whitmore Invitational April 10. The 12-meet field includes state power Conant and neighbor Libertyville. Mundelein has won the meet three straight years. Action begins at 7 p.m.

Jon Wasik provided the highlight for Mundelein as he snared a score of 8.8 in the high bar to gain first. He also won the all around. Wasik is gaining more respect each time out, according to Foerch. He compared Wasik's situation to how T.J. Dortch developed.

"It is like T.J.'s junior year. It took half a season for people to realize he was for real," Foerch said.

Ray Gardecki had a 7.7 in the parallel bars, good enough for fifth place. Andy Baade was sixth in the still rings.
